LOSS $200,000 IN CRESTLINE FIRE

SPRING HAS SPRUNG. Spring arrived in Marion County promptly at 3:55 a.m. today. As if to prove that winter is to be no more, these three lasses took to the sidewalks on their roller skates, in a sport that traditionally hails the end of snow and ice. Enjoying the outing are (left to right) Arlene Seitter, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Seitter of 662 Irey Ave., Carol Indoe, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Indoe of 630 S. Flames Wreck Two Stores in Heart of Town

By JOHN ROBSON
Marion Star State Editor

CRESTLINE — A spectacular fire Friday night destroyed two downtown Crestline business places and caused damage estimated at close to $200,000.

Destroyed were the Bevier's Dry Goods store and the Ben Franklin 5 and 10 cent store on Seltzer St. in the heart of the village.

The fire started at the rear of the Bevier's store and spread into the adjoining Franklin building. It lasted four and one-half hours.

Nearly 50 firemen from six communities in the area were on hand to battle the raging flames. The fire was brought under control about midnight.

Crestline Fire Chief R. H. Saum said: "When I got to the fire about 7:25 p.m. the whole back end of Bevier's was in flames."

The building is located almost at the rear of the Crestline fire station.

Chief Saum said today that the fire apparently started from a defective motor in a furnace which was located in the attic of the dry goods store.

Other Buildings Damaged

Heavy firewalls on the Mayer News Store building on one side and Reimherr's Dollar Store on the other saved those buildings from being destroyed, but both were damaged by smoke and water.

Firemen were on the scene from Crestline, Mansfield, Shelby, Galion, Willard and Bucyrus.

Galion and Bucyrus both sent aerial ladder trucks which played a major role in keeping the fire from spreading to the adjoining buildings.

Firemen seemed to have had the fire partially under control around 9 o'clock, but the roof of the Ben Franklin store caught fire and soon the flames again got the better of the firemen.

The businesses were two of Crestline's better stores, according to bystanders at the scene. They had been extensively remodeled within the last two years.

Only the brick front walls remained standing after the flames died down.

Day's Receipts Saved

An official of the Ben Franklin store said he was able to get the day's receipts from the inside of the building when the fire was first discovered, but heavy smoke prevented him from returning to the building to save the store's records.

This was the second major fire in Crestline in the last few months. A $75,000 fire late last year destroyed another downtown business building in the Jenners Block.

Seven pieces of fire-fighting equipment including three from Crestline and four from the surrounding towns were at the scene.

Also there to direct traffic and help maintain order were the Crestline police, Crawford County sheriff's deputies, Richland County sheriff's deputies and officers from the state patrol.

Conference Plan Okayed By Ike, Mac

Will Offer Russians Formula for Holding Top-Level Meetings

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed today on a formula for offering to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev the prospect of a summit conference later this year.

A proposed draft of the summit meeting plan was dispatched immediately to the French and German governments and the other NATO allies for their reaction.

New Note to Moscow

The formula, when fully approved, will be included in a new note to Moscow on negotiations over the Berlin crisis and German problems generally. The Western powers had already agreed to propose a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva beginning May 11—and hold out at least the possibility of a followup summit conference.

Today's agreement was announced by U. S. and British press officers immediately after it was reached. Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, with British spokesman Peter Hope at his elbow, reported to newsmen on the progress of the Eisenhower-MacMillan discussions at Camp David in these words:

"Both Hope and I can say that there is complete agreement between our two governments, that we are looking to negotiations as a means of settling controversies in Europe, that we have agreed on the general line on which we think the reply to the Soviet note dealing with the matter of a summit meeting should be formulated.

Others Informed

"We are now communicating our proposals to the French and German governments and to our NATO allies for their consideration."

The agreement was disclosed less than two hours after Eisenhower and Macmillan began the second day of their talks at Camp David, in the nearby Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

The announcement apparently was made so quickly because the U.S. and British delegations wanted to counter news of disagreement over the approach to the summit issue which came out of the talks late Friday.

The U.S - British difference, which had developed sharply after Macmillan's visit to Moscow a month ago, was well known in advance of the Camp David confer-

7 Income Tax Bills Ready for Council

Legislation pertaining to the proposed six-tenths of one per cent city income tax easily could occupy well over two hours' reading time alone at the regular meeting of Marion City Council in City Hall Monday night.

Seven of the 11 pieces of legislation up for consideration relate to the tax and of the four remaining pieces, three are routine and one is to proceed with the Woodrow Ave. storm and sanitary sewer project.

FIRST ITEM ON the agenda is the ordinance proposing to levy the income tax. It is 17 typewritten pages in length.

The ordinance is not designated as emergency legislation, but it may be adopted by suspension of the rules. This would eliminate the necessity of having it read on three separate occasions.

Keyed to its adoption are the six other pieces of tax legislation. They will not be considered should the tax ordinance fail.

Among them is a resolution of regulations containing 45 typewritten pages, spelling out in detail the administration, collection and enforcement of the tax. It will require more than 90 minutes of reading time.

The ordinance allocates the funds to be collected from the tax, which is to become effective June 1 for a 19-month period.

After the costs of collection, estimated at $20,000 to $25,000 for the seven months the tax would be in effect this year, the next $261,000 would go for capital improvements with council's intention being to use this for street repair and maintenance.

These two items will require all the estimated $280,000 to be collected from June 1 through Dec. 31 this year.

In the next 12-month period, the tax is expected to produce $480,000. The formula for distribution of the funds then will be: first, the costs of collection; next, $261,000 for streets; next, $121,500 for the general fund, and finally, $67,500 for storm sewers. If any additional revenue is produced it will go into the general fund.

AMONG THE other legislation to be introduced Monday will be an ordinance to issue $100,000 in city notes in anticipation of collection of the tax. It is written so as to become effective after the deadline for filing referendum petitions passes. It would immediately pro-

Spring Is Here, Says Calendar If Not the Sun

Last Day of Winter Pleasant but Storms Reported Elsewhere

Precisely at 3:55 o'clock this morning, winter officially departed Marion County and spring took up residency, to hold sway until the start of summer on June 21.

The transition was a welcome one for most residents of the area who were glad to bid adieu to one of the harshest winters to plague the country in years.

High of 64 Friday

The new season slipped into the Marion area right behind a high mercury reading Friday of 64. But indications by mid-morning were that winter, while ousted on the calendar, was not yet ready to relinquish its unwelcome influence.

Overnight the temperature dropped to a low of 33. By 7:30 it had risen to 39, but had dropped back to 35 at noon as an overcast and sharp breeze fostered conditions anything but springlike.

The weatherman, with one eye on the calendar, the other on the forboding sky, predicted a high temperature of 48 or 50 today, although at noon there appeared little likelihood that that peak would be reached.

Tonight's low is expected to be about 29 and Sunday's high 38.

Storms Hit Elsewhere

Although this part of the Buckeye state got only so-so conditions for the start of spring, other sections of the country were subjected to near-blizzard circumstances, dust storms and a trio of tornadoes.

Two persons died in Colorado from exertions blamed on the snow there.

One tornado struck near Trenton, Tex., 50 miles northeast of Dallas, destroying or damaging five houses and six barns. Another tornado uprooted trees and damaged two houses as it brushed the northeast edge of Marshall, Tex. The third damaged 22 homes, three badly, at Paxton, a village of about 200 persons 40 miles south of Marshall near the Louisiana line.

Winds up to 86 m.p.h. howled across the Texas Panhandle Friday night piling up snow in three-foot drifts. Blowing snow reduced visibility to zero.

The Texas Highway Department closed all roads in the Texas Panhandle north of the Canadian Riv-

Long Distance Missile Fired On Sixth Test

Ships, Planes Search Atlantic in Attempts To Locate Nose Cone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., (AP) —The Air Force hurled a furturistic ICBM warhead far out over the Atlantic aboard a fiery Thor-Able rocket today and hoped to recover it intact for the first time in six launchings.

The huge two-stage rocket, a modified combination of the intermediate range Thor and Vanguard appeared to perform perfectly during the 2½ minutes it was in sight after a spectacular blastoff.

Ships, Planes to Search

A fleet of search ships and planes waited in rendezvous off Ascension Island 5,000 miles to the southeast ready to recover the elusive cone after it splashed into the sea.

A bright puff and then a tiny flash of light in rapid succession indicated that the second stage of the 80-foot launching vehicle had ignited.

Up to now the Air Force had failed to retrieve one of the tiny cones that are vital in aiding missile scientists to develop the ultimate nuclear warhead shield for such ICBM's of the future as the Titan and Minuteman.

Five previous flights in 10 months — three of them with tiny white mice aboard—all resulted in failure, although two of the Thor-Ables flew intercontinental range without a hitch.

Advanced Guidance System

The latest Thor-Able was equipped with an advanced guidance system — the same as in the massive Titan — to insure greater accuracy on the flight 80 miles in space.

Last Wednesday the Air Force made a first attempt to recover the operational type warhead of an Atlas ICBM, but the mission failed when the missile ran out of steam after only about 700 miles of a planned 4,500 mile shot.

The last Thor-Able was fired Feb. 28, but it was blown up seconds later when instrumentation failed high in the sky.

Plane Crash Kills Two

PFORZHEIM, Germany (AP)— A two-engined U. S. Army liaison plane crashed just off the Stuttgart - Karlsruhe highway today. Two officers aboard the plane were killed, American and German military authorities said. Names of the victims were withheld until their families are notified.

Situation Tense

Fighting Reported In Capital of Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Fighting is raging in Lhasa, capital of Communist-held Tibet, the Indian Foreign Ministry reported today.

A terse midnight radio report from the Indian representative in "The Roof of the World" said: "Fighting in immediate vicinity of consulate. Situation tense and rising."

This was all that was received here suggesting the possibility that the radio — only free world link with Tibet — may have been cut off.

Just Outside Lhasa

The Indian consulate is just outside Lhasa between the Dalai Lama's summer and winter palaces, which are only two miles apart.

The uprising was sparked, according to the Indian press, by an order to the 25-year-old god-king from the Red Chinese command in the capital telling him to report at once without bodyguards.

The whereabouts of the Dalai Lama, who is worshipped by the 1,300,000 Tibetans as their religious and political leader, was not known.

There was speculation in Indian newspapers that the captive ruler may have been kidnaped by the Communists or fled from his great Potala palace under protection of friends.

New Delhi authorities reportedly asked the Red Chinese Embassy here to take any steps necessary to protect the Indian consulate in Lhasa.

Decline to Comment

The Red Chinese here declined to comment on the reports of the fighting.

The Indian Foreign Ministry's confirmation of open fighting in Lhasa is significant. Careful not to antagonize Red China, Prime Minister Nehru has tended to discount reports of unrest and revolt in Tibet.

These reports of trouble in the mysterious land in the Himalayas have been growing since last summer when Khampa tribesmen of eastern Tibet slipped out of Lhasa to launch a guerrilla campaign against the Chinese Communists from mountain strongholds just south and east of the capital.

DiSalle 'Reforms' Face Scrutiny in Legislature

By DUANE E. CROFT
Marion Star Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The big push in the Ohio Legislature for the next month will be on new taxes.

But that doesn't mean some other bills high on Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's priority list are going to be sidetracked. And some of them face as rough a time with reluctant lawmakers as the money matters.

Take his ideas for tightening up executive control of the state's sprawling government, for instance.

Exhibit A in this line is the plan to abolish or drastically revise the State Board of Liquor Control to put all of its power to set policy into the hands of the director of the Department of Liquor Control, who is a cabinet officer responsible only to the governor.

Exhibit B is the bill to abolish some 35 rotary funds and put their cash into the general fund.

Exhibit C is the proposal to give 24 "maverick" agencies new homes in departments of cabinet status. These are independent boards and commissions which presently exist pretty much in and of themselves.

Bills to accomplish all these have been dropped in the hopper.

Hearings started in the Senate Finance Committee last week on the rotary fund measure. House Speaker James A. Lantz has promised the other two will be coming up for airings soon.

This does not assure their ultimate success, though, by any means.

Market Better, Says Mullaney

Good Year Anticipated For Power Shovel Firm

A good year for the Marion Power Shovel is expected this year, James Mullaney, president of the Universal Marion Corp., said in the firm's annual report to stockholders. The Marion company is a division of Universal Marion.

He said the market appears stronger than for many years.

He reported that MPS is now building another record - breaking big shovel, a type 5781 stripping shovel, which will have a 65-cubic-yard dipper on a 165-foot boom. It will have a working weight of more than 6,500,000 pounds.

—:—

HE ADDED THAT "considerable design work has also been done on a still larger stripping shovel, for which the company hopes to have a firm order shortly."

The company already holds the "world's biggest" record with its giant Mountaineer shovel and similar models.

MR. MULLANEY characterized 1958 as a year of "complication and challenge" for the corporation, which reported both sales and earnings down from the record year of 1957, "because of the general business recession and labor troubles." However, he continued, "with all of our divisions now on a full production basis, and predictions of a better year generally for business, we look with confidence and optimism to a good 1959."

As an indication of management's confidence for the present year, the corporation recently vot-

HANANIAH

"Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: . . . and to Hananiah, of Shadrach . . ."
—Daniel 1:7

Young Hananiah was one of the companions of Daniel, taken captive by King Nebuchadnezzar's armies in Jerusalem, and carried back to Babylon to be trained as a page in the king's court.

It was a long, tiresome, and sometimes terrifying journey. Hananiah said many prayers for those of his countrymen who did not fare so well as he and his friends.

The Babylonian soldiers were often very cruel to the young Hebrews they had captured. Many were loaded with the spoils of war, which the Chaldean armies were taking back to their homeland. They took with them even the millstones and uprooted cedar trees of Jerusalem.

To further humiliate the Jews, their captors tore up the Torah scrolls upon which the sacred scriptures were written, made sacks of them and filled these with sand. Captive princes and sons of priests were made to carry them on the toilsome journey across the burning heat of the desert.

Sometimes, though, Hananiah could not help but turn his eyes from the miseries of his people to the strange sights that met his eyes as the long column of men wound across new lands.

When they came within view of Babylon, he stared at the fabulous city in unbelief. It stood on a vast plain, shimmering through the early morning sunlight like a mirage.

It was in the form of a perfect square, bounded by canals full of water. The great walls rose three-hundred feet into the air, so thick that they supported towers on top of them between which a chariot might be driven.

On the west side of the city was the great palace of Nebuchadnezzar. Its massive walls were decorated with huge sculptures of animals and men on horseback, one of them in the act of throwing a javelin at a leopard.

Not far from the palace was the most remarkable sight of all—the famous Hanging Gardens of Babylon.

They were planted in terraces which rose, one above another on huge arches, to form a kind of artificial mountain. The tiers were covered with beautiful trees and all kinds of plants and shrubs.

Hananiah could not help being excited as he entered the magnificent city, even though he was a foreign slave.

He Could Not Be Hid

A Sermonette

By L. NATHAN BLACK
Minister of the Hill Street Church of Christ

"And He entered into a house, and would have no man know it; and He could not be hid."—Mark 7:24.

We can say, with a confidence backed up by centuries, that Jesus Christ could not be hid. Such has always been his story!

For example, Christ could not be hid even before he came to Bethlehem in human flesh. Long before he made his advent into the world, men were looking for signs of his coming. Many heralds were heard who cried in anticipation: "Behold he cometh."

And then in time, Christ was born and laid in a mangr for a crib, and he could not be hid even there. One would naturally expect that a child born in the royal chambers could not be concaled, but Jesus was born in an obscure city, and an obsolete manger. He was not clothed in royal purple. The manner of his birth appeared more like a drama of concealment. Bethelehem and the stable were good hiding places, but they could not hide him, who was our Lord!

Then after Bethlehem, Jesus could not be hid. From Bethlehem to Egypt—from Egypt to Nazareth—and then the question: "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Yes, something great came out of Nazareth, for we have the word of the final herald who cried out in the wilderness: "There cometh one after me, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose." Even in Nazareth, and out of Nazareth, Jesus could not be hid!

FURTHERMORE, violence could not hide him. Social and institutional forces tried to put him out of this world's sight, even as they are still attempting to do, today. First, they tried their verbal assaults against him. But since these were ineffective, they then resorted to violence. They crucified him! But even in the hour of his crucifixion, when the sordid world thought that it had silenced and hidden the Son of God, in that very hour the penitent thief called him, "Lord," and asked him to remember him when he arrived in his kingdom. And in that same day the Roman centurion declared, in a voice that is heard through the centuries, "Truly, this man was the Son of God." Instead of a hiding-place, Calvary becomes a revealing place. And Jesus in anticipation of his death had said, "To this end came I into the world." Truly, violence could not hide him.

Christ's departure from this world did not conceal him. As soon as Christ had broken the bonds of death by his resurrection, and had ascended, his persecutors turned their attention to his followers. But here, again, attempts to conceal only revealed. And, many other methods have failed to hide the Christ. But here is a strange and phenomenal fact: whereas it was impossible to hide the Christ at the time of his birth, or by geography, or even by violence—yet the weakest person in the world has the power to hide the Christ from his own soul just now. When men will not consider Christ, and admit and submit to his power and purpose for life, they are hiding Christ. And this is worse than child's play; ostrich-like, refusing to face facts, self deception in its worst form.

How many hide Christ from their own hearts, so that he can never lead them out of sin into his salvation? Robertson Nicoll once said, "Even if you could blot out the words, 'sin and hell', from the Scriptures, you could never by human means blot them out of human lives."

No man has sense of any sort until he has the sense of sin! The one prayer that is appropriate for us all, and which touches all lives, is: "God be merciful to me a sinner."

Socrates once said: "It may be that God can forgive sin, but I do not see how." But God is greater than the wisest philosopher, and his love through Christ provided the way. God's word is, "The blood of Jesus his son cleanseth us from all sin." And the Scriptures inform us that this cleansing is appropriated to human need by our faith and obedience to the Gospel of Christ.

Still many would hide Christ so that he will not be able to lead them from fear to faith. Be assured that all men are acquainted with fear. The child is afraid of the dark, the mother fears for her children, the husband—for the future. All are afraid of death. Someone describes fear as a "mental blight, a moral mildrew, an intellectual poison." But men are only safe when fear is turned to faith in God.

John declared, "And this is the victory that has overcome the world, even our faith." But how many fail to realize that the converse of this is also true. The reason for our setbacks and defeats is unbelief giving rise to fear, which is sin. When people refuse to hide the Christ, and let his light shine upon their hearts they are "delivered from all fears." The apostle says, "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear: but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." The very process of redemption through faith in the living Christ, prepares us to live useful and happy lives.

FINALLY, men hide Christ from their hearts so that he cannot lead them over from time to eternity. We all should realize that some day we shall reach the point where the next step will be that step into the invisible. Our individual life was given us to retain forever, and, with all its tangle and tears, is a rich heritage from God. For Christ, came that "they might have life, and have it abundantly." To him, its sum total was not merely eating, drinking, and working. He taught that a man's life does not consist in the abundance of things possessed. Life is not a playground, but a school in which we are equipped for a larger life here and beyond. In all this, Christ must not—cannot—be hidden from us.

Because God gave us life, he has every claim to it. We only court disaster if we try to live our life apart from him. All that is twisted, sorrowful, and sinful in life, whether it be individual or collective, is the result of hiding God's son out of our thought and life. A life without Christ is a lost life. He alone who gave his life for our sins can give to our life zest and purpose and nobility. "If we:

"Live for self we live in vain,
If we live for Christ, we live again."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Outgrow Your Problems

Not long ago I had lunch with an inspiring friend of mine, the president of Prentice-Hall, Inc., the publishing house which issues my books. His name is John Powers and he has an interesting habit. He draws diagrams to illustrate points he is making. He draws them over all the paper he has with him, then, when he runs out of paper, he is likely to draw diagrams on the tablecloth.

Vincent Peale

On this particular occasion, John drew a diagram for me which pictured a great big mountain, and, beside it, a man. The proportion between the mountain and the man was twenty-five to one in favor of the mountain.

Then John said: "This mountain, which represents a difficult problem, goes down deep into the earth and it goes way out wide to the right and way out wide to the left. This man is just an average fellow. The question is — How is this little man going to get on the other side of that huge mountain of a difficulty? How would you solve his problem?"

WELL, I'M A so-called expert at solving other people's problems so I didn't hesitate a minute to say, "Oh, that's easy. He just goes around it — makes an end run or by-passes it."

"No," John said, "he can't. It goes too far in that direction."

"Well, then, he just goes round the other way — a left end run."

"He can't," John told me. "It goes out too far on that side as well."

I thought harder. "He'll crawl over the top of it."

John promptly corrected me. "It's too steep. He can't do it."

"All right then," I responded, "he'll burrow down underneath."

"It's solid rock all the way down, too deep for a tunnel."

I remembered all the books and columns I'd written about always trying, trying again and said, "O.K., then, if he's really a good man, he will just haul off and plow right through it."

"Ah," John answered, "it's too thick. He can't get through. It would beat him back. So, you see, we've reached an impasse."

AT THIS POINT I was stumped and I asked John to tell me how the man could get beyond his mountain of a problem, if it was assured me. "The answer is in at all possible.

"Of course, there's a way," he that man's brain. What he must do is begin to think and begin to pray. When he does these he begins to grow. And he grows and grows until he is so tall in his mind that in effect he is taller than the mountain. He becomes bigger than the problem. Then instead of looking up at it in defeat, he looks down upon it in victory."

How right John is. A man's size depends not upon the height of his body but upon the size of his thinking. By right thinking he can make himself bigger than any difficulty.

That diagram which John Powers drew is one of the best answers to overcoming a problem I have ever heard. And it contains a simple technique that any one of us can apply effectively in our problem solving.

First, start thinking — really thinking. Most of the time we use only a small proportion of our brain power; the rest lies idle. Using your brain to a greater extent releases amazing new power and energy for attacking your problems.

Second, start praying — really praying. Prayer in depth brings a quietness and confidence that stimulates your brain to function at its best. In addition prayer gives access to Divine Guidance Through it you are given God's answers to your problems.

So a problem-solving formula that gets real results may be stated in three words: THINK AND PRAY. As you learn to use this formula you will grow big enough to overcome any problem.

Hard Time for State's Universities Predicted

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Kent State University executive says Ohio's state universities will have a difficult time retaining present faculty members and adding new ones under the appropriation Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is seeking for them from the state Legislature.

Dr. Robert I. White Jr., Kent's vice president for academic affairs, told Kent and Ohio State University alumni at a luncheon here Friday that faculty salaries have increased only eight per cent in purchasing power in the last 20 years. The governor has asked an increase of 11½ million dollars in the appropriation for the state schools, while the schools sought a boost of 20 million.

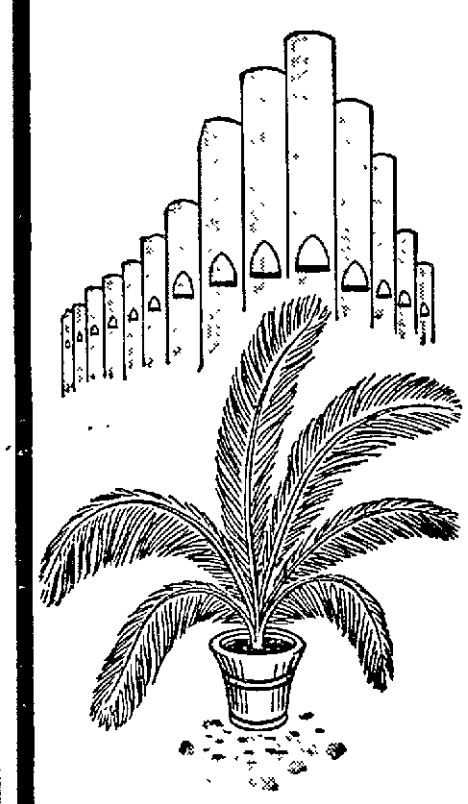
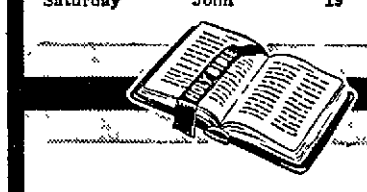
Sunday is a Special Day



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Luke	19	28-44
Monday	John	18	1-14
Tuesday	John	18	15-27
Wednesday	John	18	28-40
Thursday	John	19	1-16
Friday	John	19	17-30
Saturday	John	19	31-42



Sunday is a special day for Sheila. She likes to go to church.

For one thing, the church is beautiful. Sheila likes to look at the soft light filtering through the colored glass windows. She likes the delicate scent of the beautiful flowers, and the majestic tones of the organ. She likes to sing, too, and she knows several hymns "all the way through," even without the hymnal to guide her.

She particularly likes this season because she knows that Palm Sunday is a time for special rejoicing in the Church.

Sheila feels the way she does because her parents have taught her that going to church is a privilege and a joy. Is Sunday just another day for your child, or is it—as it is for Sheila—a special day?

Find Man's Body

CLEVELAND (AP) — The body of Byron Perry, 25, was found face down in a small stream in Beachwood Village Friday. Police said Perry had been dead for several days. Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson said an autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of death.

Companion Says They Planned To Publish Experiment Results

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — "I guess I understand, now, that we were just too young."

The survivor was speaking — one of two intellectually inclined 18-year-olds who secretly probed the hidden depths of their minds with powerful sedatives.

"This was not done for kicks or for a binge. We honestly intended to publish the results of our studies."

Thus did David Dunning explain three months of research and testing which ended Tuesday with the death of Michael Hawks, his fellow student at the University of Redlands.

Officials concluded Friday night that Hawks, a chemistry major, died accidentally while seeking the colored dreams of hypnotic sleep. He died of chloral hydrate intoxication.

Chloral hydrate is a hypnotic and a sedative. Like other hypnotics, it produces dreams. Weird, startling hallucinations ranging, the dead youth had written, "from simple geometric objects to resplendent landscapes of indescribable beauty."

The chemistry major and psychology sophomore pooled their talents in December.

They had always worked together. But Dunning was not in on Hawks' last vision.

"I didn't know Mike would try to use chloral hydrate alone," he said. "He knew that stuff was dangerous. I just don't understand. . . ."

Air Force Says Mystery Lights Were Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mysterious lighted objects recently reported by a commercial airliner were lights of three jet bombers refueling in the air, the Air Force says.

The pilot of an American Airlines plane and several passengers said they saw the lights over Pennsylvania on the night of last Feb. 24.

The Air Force said Friday it had been determined the lights were from B47 bombers that were being refueled by a KC97 tanker in an operation that lasted more than a hour.

Union Reform Urged in New York

There is striking similarity in a union-reform proposal made for New York state by Gov. Rockefeller and Gov. DiSalle's proposal for Ohio.

In both cases, first-term governors have declared it is their intention to differentiate between good unionists, who would have nothing to fear from a reform law, and bad ones, who could be put to rout by enforcement of the laws they propose.

In both cases, it is pointed out that responsible unionists need strong legal support for their own efforts to free themselves of the leeches that have attached themselves to the union movement.

And in both cases it is made clear that unions have attained such importance in the organization of society that they must be controlled as closely as employers. In New York, the Rockefeller proposal goes beyond the DiSalle proposal in Ohio by including new procedures for employer organizations as well as for unions. But the intent in both proposals is to regularize labor-management relations by public authority in such a manner as to bar coercion, bribe-paying and bribe-receiving by either side.

Though the DiSalle proposal appears to have more punch in it, as far as dealing harshly with unionism's bag eggs, the Rockefeller bill has more impact because it hits at corruption in the vast New York City area.

Both proposals raise the question whether labor unions finally have reached a stage of development that makes it possible for their leaders to accept public help in solving their problems. In the past, the leaders have taken the attitude that all outside interest in their affairs was unfriendly—part of a hostile plot to injure them. Until they have learned to identify their interests with public interests, unions cannot be secure.

Ohio and New York are giving them a chance to admit they owe responsibility for the privileges they demand.

Good Business To Get a Receipt

When the Ohio General Assembly gets down to the point of decision about revising the state sales tax, it must give special attention to the views of the merchants who collect the tax in the state's behalf. They are the "experts" in this field.

Members of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants are strongly opposed to the proposal in Gov. DiSalle's budget message to do away with the Ohio practice of issuing sales tax receipts. Late last year before it was even known that the newly elected governor would make such a recommendation, the council's board of trustees explained why receipts should be kept in effect.

The council thinks receipts are the best possible way to keep merchants honest, to insure maximum collection, to hold down the state payroll and to keep the state's sales tax revenue on an even keel.

Perhaps if Ohioans realized more generally that sales tax receipts are a guarantee that the merchant already has paid the tax —that Ohio already has collected from the merchant what he now must collect from the customer — they would see the logic of the argument by the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants.

Here is a tax that causes upward of a quarter of a billion dollars to pass through merchants hands. So far, there have been no major scandals. But without a receipt system that gives the state its money in advance and protects customers by giving them the right to demand proof that merchants are staying up to date in their payments, scandals could be expected.

To avert them, the state would have to beef up its own payroll to do the work now being done by merchants. The net result, the council surmises, would be to provide less sales tax revenue than is being collected now but many more state jobs.

The merchants have been here all the time. This is a strong point of view. These are the "experts" speaking. Ohio merchants, with a quarter of a century of experience in sales tax collections to guide them, may be assumed to know more about it than all of the state officials who have come and gone since 1934, when Ohio turned to a state tax to avert bankruptcy in the Great Depression.

Don't Frighten Spring

There are right and wrong ways to greet spring, just as there are right and wrong ways to pick up a kitten.

This year of all years there should be no mistakes.

One false move and snow shovels still will be showing up cardiac cases a month from now. Spring is bound to be more skittish than usual after so much foul winter weather.

Walk up to spring slowly. Make no sudden motions. Repress the impulse to emit loud yelps. Do not even sigh. Just sneak up close and stand there.

Do not touch spring until it has grown accustomed to the stranger in its presence. Then, when it has quit shivering and trembling, reach out slowly and gently test the fullness of a lilac bud.

If no lilac bud is available, test the forthcoming bloom on a forsythia. Or touch the tip of a crocus leaf. Or carefully move the mulch from the blood-red spear of a peony shoot and touch that.

But remember at all times to move slowly. Do nothing to frighten spring. It could run away and hide for six weeks as easily as not; it is the personification of timidity. And there is still another reason for showing spring every consideration in 1959. This is a reverential occasion. There haven't been two decent days together since last September. There haven't been more than half a dozen decent days all told.

Basketball Outlook Should Be Bright

The state tournament finals tonight will be the official windup of Ohio scholastic basketball, and it has been another excellent season.

Marion basketball activity for 1959-1960 ended Tuesday night with recognition banquets for Harding and Catholic high schools.

Harding's dream of taking big steps up the ladder of state basketball recognition have not yet been realized and Catholic had one of the worst seasons in its history.

Nevertheless, we feel Don Knodel turned in an excellent first-year job as the Presidents' coach. As for Ray Robbins, his record has been so distinguished as the Catholic mentor over a long period that he requires no defense at all.

Knodel worked under many handicaps, one of which was that, through no one's fault, Marion was still celebrating the greatest football season in Harding's history midway through the basketball campaign.

We do not feel, however, that a strong grid program is a permannt impairment to basketball. Now that Harding has reached the upper ozone in state football recognition, similar feats in future years should be taken more in stride.

There is every reason to hope that, in a relatively short time, Harding should be able to develop a basketball team of the caliber that might give Marion representation in state tourney play.

Good Road Project

The state highway department project of moving a section of Rt. 30-S east of Caledonia is a good one, since that particular part of the road has been dangerous for a long time.

Plans call for shifting the highway about 600 feet to the south and constructing an overpass to carry the road over the New York Central Railroad tracks.

Eliminated would be a railroad underpass that has become too narrow for modern cars and trucks, and two hazardous bridges over Flat Run that have been the scene of several bad accidents over the years.

Route 30-S between Marion and Galion has been hilly, winding and generally quite a test for a driver. But in the last three or four years the state highway department has been steadily converting it into a straight, level road, section by section, and this latest project should be a great help.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Imaginary dialogue between Ike and Mac in that mountain retreat:

Mac: In a way this is a summit meeting.

Ike: We get the altitude without the double-talk and walkouts.

Mac: Isn't this where Roosevelt and Churchill once met?

Ike: Yes. That was away back when we thought we had won the war. What do you really think of Khrushchev?

Mac: I wouldn't want to use that kind of language even in the deep woods. Even if he was good I wouldn't like him.

Ike: Do you think he wants war?

Mac: He seems determined to get it if it takes his last peace speech.

Ike: How was your Russian reception?

Mac: It was as cordial as Soviet animosity could make it, with or without toothaches.

Ike: Can we depend on NATO?

Mac: If I didn't think so I'd never admit it. We must play our cards right.

Ike: But how can we play cards with a fellow who deals in the dark, says, "I'll play these" before he looks at his hand and takes all the kings and queens out of the deck?

Mac: How are you finding congressional support?

Ike: Compared to what I am experiencing the channel crossing was a canoe trip.

Mac: How is Mr. Dulles?

Ike: He is recovering so fast and showing such inspiring courage I'm amazed Moscow hasn't denounced radium treatments.

Mac: Don't worry. It will!

JERSEY HAS DISCONTINUED public announcement of where its roads use radar to catch speeders. New York and other states continue the absurd broadcasts, which, instead of curbing the potential killer, gives him a blueprint of place to slow down and escape detection.

Actor named Rip Torn is in "Sweet Bird of Youth." Despite the name he gives no ragged performance. (We want to see him in a Gilbert and Sullivan number "A wandering minstrel I; a thing of shreds and patches."

MICKEY ROONEY will play Fiorello La Guardia, according to Hollywood announcement. Now for Jimmy Stewart as Bill O'Dwyer and Lassie as the New York Board of Estimate.

The federal grand Jury has indicted five in inquiry into hoodlum kingpins in ladies blouse industry. This should make the girls pretty nervous. What woman can keep cool with the fear that possibly an ugly gangster stands behind every pretty blouse she has?

Power of Faith

Palm Sunday

"And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him; and He sat upon him.

And many spread their garments in the way; and others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

And they that went before, and they that followed, cried saying, Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord . . ."—Mark 11:7-9.

Restrained Optimism

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets' latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday, it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

IT WAS, HOWEVER, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

EVEN BRITISH Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

ONE OF THE KEY points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything. Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

Give Youth a Mission

By Frank Tripp

What participation they will have to remember from their youth bothers youngsters far less than it does their elders. The kids have little chance to do things worth remembering. Youth has been legislated back into the cradle.

Just how they will associate themselves with this cockeyed era, say 20 years from now, would be mighty interesting to their granddads who will not be around to grumble "I told you."

I'm one of the antiques who pity the generation now sprouting or aborning. To me, in the genuinely worthwhile things of life, they arrived at least 30 years late and are getting a rotten deal.

I believe that half of what we call juvenile delinquency is no more than the popping of lively, normal kids' safety valves. Pent up energy and ambition to get into the picture from which they have been excluded by laws, rules and conventions that say a human being is a child until he is past 18. It has become suspect to be a "teen-ager."

The Do-Gooders and theorists, mostly either childless or too busy raising other people's children, have robbed childhood and youth of the second most important factor in the character-building responsibility. Second only to faith and reverence.

There still is left to the conscientious parent the force of faith and reverence for God, and home, out of the days when every child began to assume responsibility as early as he could walk and understand discipline.

When faith and reverence are absent in the home, discipline or a reason to be disciplined (governed) gives way to the urge to defy and defeat the rules of law and society — and you have a "delinquent."

Once the safety valve pops, the blow-up may be anything from a rock through a window to murder. "Thou shalt not" in the Bible or in the statutes means no more than a challenge unless reverence or responsibility, or both, are established in the consciousness of the offender.

Modern codes ignore that responsibility of the individual exists or can be taught to children.

They can master languages, the sciences, mathematics (everything except spelling), even be in college, sometimes married, before the law makes them completely responsible for their acts.

An absurd New York State law, effective in a few weeks unless repealed, would extend this irresponsibility to age 21. A grown man would be a "child," could invoke the coddling and leniency of children's courts, up to the very day he votes. How silly can legislators get?

GRIN AND BEAR IT By George Lichty

Tax Tyranny

By Raymond Moley

Revolt against tyranny takes two forms: open, violent demonstrations with rioting, bloodshed and rapine, or silent, secret sabotage, law violation and other forms of frustrating an authority which the public considers oppressive and unjust. Usually the second sort of activity runs into the first. But in what I am considering, the second may run not into bullets but ballots.

A friend of mine, who is a distinguished tax and estate lawyer, drew on the back of a menu card a rough chart. One line moved from left to right in an ascending curve.

"This," he said, "represents the rise in taxes which we are experiencing." (He is a New Yorker, and the subject that touched off his exposition was Gov. Rockefeller's high tax budget.)

Then he drew another line, curving downward: "This is the state of public morality. The higher the taxes, the greater the amount of cheating."

He continued: "At first the tax increases do not seriously impair public morals, but, as the pressure of taxes intensifies, the drop in morality accelerates, at first gradually and finally catastrophically."

HE IS A LAWYER whose knowledge of the habits of the well-to-do comes from his many clients. His comments come with authority:

"I don't mean that the rich come to cheat more than the less fortunate. The rich, after all, can hire clever tax planners who, whatever the Internal Revenue Code may attempt in the way of restrictions, can always design interesting and profitable ways legally to escape taxes. But to the relatively poor such expert aid is not available. They fashion do-it-yourself methods of cheating. These are called evasion, which is illegal — not avoidance, which is legal. But by either method, the motive is the same and the end result is the same.

"Where are we today? Everybody cheats who is able to. Few of the well-to-do resort to such extreme methods as hiding income abroad. But they exaggerate deductions, carrying family expenses as business expenses or otherwise. Businesshmen use such methods as inventory manipulations. But the time may come when there will be more and more hiding of income, which is very easy to do.

I MIGHT ADD that a year or two ago a lawyer in a rural area whose clients are farmers told me that he lost many clients because he prepared for them what he considered honest returns. Thereupon, the clients marched over to another lawyer whose morality rested on another plane.

As this goes on, the tax collectors must hire more and more agents to ferret out cheating. That, in turn, means more bureaucracy, more government expense and more taxes.

My friend concluded: "We are close to the point where cheating will be greater and more aggressive.

"Finally, when there is a breakdown in one area of morality, it is likely to metastasize into other areas, in the way a cancerous condition spreads."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Thanks for sending me the piece you wrote about spring training camp for baseball players and the way hope springs eternal.

I agree with you it would be a good stunt for some of the rest of us to go off somewhere and take part in the mass illusion that we are starting anew in another springtime and our lifetime batting average of .213 is about to go up 100 points.

In this connection, though, I hope you noticed that one of everybody's favorite ballplayers a few years ago, Bob Lemon the pitcher, cranked up his carcass at the Cleveland Indians camp this spring, listened to his joints creak and announced he was through.

I am more impressed by what happened to him when he tried to share the illusion of a fresh beginning in another springtime than I am in your notion about old-timers being kidded into thinking that a new season is the beginning of a new lease on life.

Once in a while, some character who has been knocking around the ragged edge catches fire and bursts into fame. The truth is there are not enough places on big league rosters to hold all the talent that might look good if used every day.

But for the most part, whippersnapper, what every old man knows that no younger man wants to find out is that each of us finally learns he is running out of gas.

I do not mean the end of everything understand, just the trip. The baseball player knows when he has lost his coordination and his bounce. The football player loses desire. The politician loses that sublime confidence in himself that makes it plausible for him to think he knows how to run public affairs.

The professional beauty knows it is time to stay off the beaches and appear by candlelight. The boxer knows he is too slow to duck. The auto - driving daredevil knows he has lost his contempt for danger.

And all the rest of us, in our various ways, know when it is time to hang 'em up. We're never going to do any better than we have been doing and, barring a miracle, we're not even going to be as good as we used to be.

Our batting average of .213 might slip under .200, which would be a disgrace for even a banjo hitter. It wouldn't matter then how many times we went back to spring training camp. Everybody would know. We'd have to buy our own meals.

The trick is not to try to achieve the impossible. It takes a smart man to know when it can't be done. That's why I wondered if you had noticed that Bob Lemon, who had shown signs of closing his eyes to the truth last year, opened them to the truth this season.

Suppose you and I pool our resources and open a spring training camp for old-timers who are ready to hang 'em up but need to convince themselves once and for all the time has come.

We'll feed them to their teeth, toast them in the sunshine, let them read their press clippings, live over again with them their finest hours, jolly them up and then give them a new red bicycle to ride in pursuit of a blonde on a motor scooter—sort of like a mechanical rabbit at a dog track.

When they show up again with their ears drooping we'll give them a notice to sign: "I hereby surrender the prerogatives of youth and apply for membership in the Sunset Slope Club."

Your Aunt Effie, who is disrespectful, says I joined the club before I was 35 but she gets confused about arithmetic. I was 53 before I applied. Regards to the family.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a husband who opens his wife's mail, then become violent when she asks him not to?

The letters I refer to are from our married children who live out of the state. They address the letters "Mrs. (then his name) So and So." He says since his name is on the envelope he should be entitled to open the letters if he gets to them first. I say "MRS." means ME, not him.

Is it wrong for me to insist on opening my personal mail? When I tried to explain this he flew into a rage and said I wanted to run everyone in the house. Then he refused to look at the letters. Please discuss this in print.—P.E.

Dear P.E.: "Mrs." DOES mean you and not him but what's the matter with your children that they don't know enough to address the letters to you both? In most families mail from the children is joint property.

In the interests of peace and harmony they should be told to address the mail to "Mr. and Mrs." so that Dad can open it if he likes instead of being made to feel like a second-class citizen.

Crazy but Good

Dear Ann Landers: 'I'm a girl 15 who is in terrible agony. It's all your fault so I hope you will help me.

My mother and dad swear by your words. In a column way last spring you said a teen-age girl should not be allowed to go out with a boy unless her folks have met him.

Well, this is where the trouble started. A swell kid at school asked me to a movie. I was all excited and told him I'd let him know. I asked my folks and they said, "We'll have to meet him first."

Now, haw can I tell a fellow, "I can't go to the movies with you unless you come to the house and pass inspection."

So I lied and said the family was leaving town and I had to go with them. Can't you see how my social life is being ruined? This boy is perfectly nice in every way. He didn't ask me to MARRY him, he only wants to take me to a movie.

I'll probably die an old maid because of this crazy rule. Please change your advice and help me.—BETSI.

-:-

Dear Betsi: This "crazy rule" is a very good one. If the boy is as nice as you say he will respect a girl who is selective. You should not have lied. You should have told him your parents must meet the fellows you date and then you should have invited him over.

I promise you'll never lose out with a really nice boy because of this "crazy rule"—and you could avoid getting mixed up with some wrong numbers.

No Clothes Horse

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going with a wonderful man for 3½ years. We plan to be married as soon as his bachelor brother finds an apartment, which should be in a couple of months.

He is charming, intelligent and well-bred, but his taste in clothes is simply atrocious. He spends good money on his suits and accessories but he finds hideous colors, patterns and combinations and his suits don't fit. I've never broached this subject for fear of hurting his feelings.

Should I say something now that we are about to be married or overlook it and admire him for his virtues—which are many?—SUNBONNET SUE.

Dear Sue: You've got bees in your sunbonnet if you've been going with a man more than three years and are afraid to discuss his clothes, which apparently have bothered you for some time.

Offer to go shopping with him. He'll probably be flattered that you're interested. Men like to think their attire is pleasing to women, just as women dress to please men. If you guide him gently and with tact you should be able to achieve the desired results without bruising his ego.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

House Group's Fund Slashing Draws Sharp Blast From Ike

Eisenhower Calls Action Irresponsible

Appropriations for 3 Agencies Are Reduced Below Budget Figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new flare-up in the battle of the budget appeared in prospect today as a result of President Eisenhower's strong denunciation of a House committee's fund cutting.

"Irresponsible action," Eisenhower said Friday after the House Appropriations Committee rejected his request for 225 million dollars in supplementary money for the Development Loan Fund.

Camp David Statement

In a statement issued from his Camp David, Md., headquarters, Eisenhower said:

"The action today if not reversed will represent a long step backward toward isolating our country and weakening our national security."

Speaking in unusually strong terms, Eisenhower said the loan fund "must have additional funds now." The fund finances loans to underdeveloped areas in connection with the foreign aid program.

The committees rejection of the fund request highlighted a day of budget slashing.

The House itself cut more than 60 million dollars from proposed funds to finance the Treasury and Post Office departments during the 1960 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Okays Appropriation

Without controversy and by voice vote, the House passed and sent to the Senate a money bill appropriating $779,402,000 to the Treasury, $3,847,160,000 to the Post Office and $1,535,000 to the Tax Court.

These sums are $51,920,000 less than the Post Office requested, $8,310,000 less than the Treasury asked but the same amount sought by the Tax Court.

Passage of the bill cleared the way for a House vote and an almost certain floor fight next week on an omnibus appropriation bill which had contained Eisenhower's loan fund request.

The bill now earmarks $2,479,340,494 to finance miscellaneous federal agencies and departments for the remaining three months of the 1959 fiscal year.

Altogether, the Appropriations Committee slashed the omnibus measure by $385,614,032—of which the loan fund rejection was the biggest cut.

Boy Hurt in Collision Of His Bicycle and Bed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—It wasn't easy, but 12-year-old Robert Olvera scored a first among types of traffic accidents.

Riding his bicycle back to Pickett School after lunch Friday, Robert collided with a bed.

Police said two men were carrying the bed across a street when Robert crashed into the side of it, knocking himself to the pavement. Robert was treated for an arm injury.

Fire

A huge crowd gathered at the scene to watch the fire and their "oohs" and "ahs" could be heard above the crackling flames as each large portion of the two stores gave way.

It was feared at one point that the front wall of the Bevier's store would collapse, but it remained standing after the flames died down.

Firemen were split in their fighting of the conflagration, with about half pouring in water from the front and half from the rear. At one point several firemen climbed to the top of the Mayer News Store to pour water directly down into the fire.

None of the firemen was hurt, Chief Saum said.

One bit of luck was recorded in the fire. A family had just moved out of an apartment unit over the Bevier's Store last week and the rooms had not yet been rented.

Conference

ence. But it came into the personal discussions of Eisenhower and Macmillan in the course of their seven hours of discussion Friday.

Hagerty repeatedly refused to tell the nature of the agreement reached. He said he could not go beyond his statement.

It was known, however, that Eisenhower had told associates he intended to stand firm on his view that he was prepared to go to a summit conference but it should be justified by developments in the meantime.

Hoped for Pledge

Macmillan had come to the United States hoping to persuade him, according to all accounts, to make a firm pledge for a summit meeting this summer.

With the agreement on the summit issue out of the way, Eisenhower and Macmillan were ready to turn to other topics, such as suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

The general European situation also was open to review.

More British and American officials came from Washington, by helicopter, for the latter phases.

Joined by Aides

Eisenhower and Macmillan, with their regular advisors, were joined by Sir Anthony Rumbold, an assistant undersecretary of the British Foreign Office in charge of European affairs and high level East-West talks.

Rumbold's presence, along with such regular counsellors such as Acting U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, spotlighted the problem of working out some agreeable arrangement on the summit issue.

Macmillan wants to give Khrushchev definite notice of unconditional Western readiness for a summit meeting. Eisenhower is standing firm on his position that a summit conference should be held only if developments in a prior foreign ministers meeting justified it.

The talks were resumed in pleasant spring weather, the same kind in which Eisenhower and Macmillan flew by helicopter Friday from Washington.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty telephoned word of the opening of today's discussions from Camp David to the press center in Gettysburg.

Moving into the second day of their Camp David conference, the Allied leaders also were expected to discuss military arrangements in support of their determination to maintain the Western position in Berlin despite Soviet pressures.

Quarles Called to Talks

Dep. Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles was summoned from Washington to participate in the Berlin crisis talks. Also asked to the Catoctin Mountain conference room were John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and presidential science adviser James R. Killian.

On the British side Macmillan asked Con O'Neil, assistant secretary in the London Foreign Office, and Sir Patrick Dean, Foreign Office deputy undersecretary for defense matters, to come from Washington.

Ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is represented at the conference by acting Secretary Christian A. Herter. Macmillan's chief adviser is Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Aside from Berlin and German problems, it was evident that Eisenhower and Macmillan were planning to discuss the deadlocked negotiations with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban. This is among the issues on which the two do not see eye-to-eye.

Macmillan suggested to Khrushchev a month ago in Moscow some new ideas on a test ban. The ideas have not been officially disclosed, but Eisenhower told a recent news conference he was not convinced they were practical.

Divergencies of view about offering Khrushchev a summer summit conference were reported to have emerged during Friday's opening round of discussions.

Eisenhower, as he said in a broadcast speech Monday night, is prepared to go to a summit conference if developments justify it. This means that he wants from the foreign ministers meeting some progress toward resolution of the Berlin crisis. Macmillan reportedly believes that a summit meeting must be held regardless of what the foreign ministers do, and he wants the new notes to Moscow to fix a definite time for a top-level meeting.

Auto Accidents

A 39-year-old Prospect Township man was taken to General Hospital with head injuries Friday night after the car he was driving swerved onto the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks off Barks Rd. (County Rd. 138).

Sheriff's deputies said John Criswell of near Prospect was released after treatment for head lacerations.

Deputies said Criswell told them he was driving east on Barks Rd. and swerved north onto the tracks to avoid collision with an oncoming car. The auto blocked the east set of tracks from shortly before 8 p.m. until about 9:30 p.m.

C. & O. officials said two trains were held up while the car was being removed by a Short Ford wrecker.

Deputies said the accident is still under investigation.

City police reported one accident in which damage was less than $100. Details were not reported.

Soviet Speeds Plans To Hike Exports of Oil

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Soviets are getting set with thousands of miles of pipelines to flood the north European market with low-priced crude oil.

Scandinavian sources said today the oil will flow from areas as far away as Baku on the Caspian Sea.

A Finnish trade delegation headed by Trade Minister Ahti Karjalainen which returned to Helsinki from Moscow this week confirmed that the Soviets have completed a huge transcontinental network to link the Caspian and Black seas with the Baltic.

The Finns were offered Soviet oil "at a very favorable price," a spokesman said. The exact price was not disclosed.

Soviet technicians are putting the finishing touches on a modern port for tankers at Klaipeda (prewar Memel), in Lithuania. It is expected to be put into operation for small tankers this spring.

Another oil port is planned at Ventspils (Windau), on the Latvian coast of the Baltic.

A usually reliable informant versed in east European affairs said the harbors of both towns are shallow, but the Russians plan dredging to accommodate transoceanic tankers.

Soviet oil sold to north Europeans in the past has had to come from the Black Sea by tankers on month-long trips via the Mediterranean, Atlantic and English Channel.

Swedish experts take the Soviet bid as a first sign of an all-out sales drive in northern Europe.

They say the Caucasian crude which the Soviets offer to sell from ports a one day voyage from Stockholm and Copenhagen presently only is fit for heating purposes.

But the Soviets are building a refinery at Ventspils and they are expected to turn out gasoline there suitable for the Western market.

Swedish informants also have reported the rapid development of a large pipeline system for natural gas in the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Barbara Klingel did a soft shoe dance, while Candy Klingel and Judy Edwards played piano and clarinet solos, respectively.

A card party was slated for Saturday and George Schrock, Dick Klingel and Geary Salyer were chosen to the refreshment committee for the next regular meeting.

TYMOCHTEE

Inspection was held at the Wednesday night meeting of Tymochtee Grange conducted by Robert Hickman, master, at the grange hall.

er because of the drifts. It said the drifts in the Texline area were so big snow plows had difficulty moving them.

All highways out of Amarillo, Tex., except U.S. Highways 87 and 68 to the south, were closed because of poor visibility.

Motorists Stalled

Several motorists were stalled in the Spearman, Tex., area, but the Texas Highway Patrol said they were rescued and none of them was in danger.

The storm developed when an intense low pressure area over the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle drew freezing air from the high Rockies. As the air rushed east, it encountered moist, balmy air, precipitated snow and churned up dust storms.

Friday night the storm veered from its northeast course and headed toward Louisiana, Arkansas and the central Gulf states.

The snow dropped up to five inches of snow in eastern Colorado. The snow blocked U.S. 85-87 between Castle Rock and Colorado Springs, south of Denver. Many eastern Colorado schools closed.

Clayton, N.M., reported nine inches of snow on the ground and roads in the area blocked. Some highways at Raton were barricaded to prevent cars from trying to go through. Raton Pass was icy and slick, but open. Power lines were torn down in northeastern New Mexico.

ed a dividend of 30 cents per share for the first quarter of 1959, as compared with 20 cents in each of the two previous quarters, according to the report, which showed that a total of $1.20 per share was paid in dividends in 1958.

Consolidated net sales amounted to $40,156,245, including sales of Scullin Steel Co. from the beginning of 1958. (Scullin Steel was acquired in April, 1958.) Earnings, including Scullin Steel's earnings for the full year 1958, totaled $2,235,617, equal to $1.28 per share on 1,740,477 outstanding shares. Net income included $138,185 of non-recurring income due to profit on realizaton of inventory discount.

IN 1957, THE corporation had sales of $44,423,356 and earnings of $4,384,602, or $3.82 per share, including $986,242 of non-recurring income. The 1957 figures do not include sales and earnings of Scullin Steel.

The corporation, Mr. Mullaney said, believes that all three of its divisions will show "favorable" operating results in 1959.

"The prospective market for Marion Power Shovel's intermediate size quarry and mine excavators appears stronger than for many years," he stated. "It also appears that the coal and construction markets during this period will be increasingly active. 1959 will be an extremely competitive year for these markets, particularly for the latter as the federal highway building program is accelerated.

"There are many factors to make us optimistic about 1959 as far as Scullin Steel (makers of railway car castings) is concerned. Among them are the prospect of increased railroad carloadings; the attention government is giving to the railroad situation; and finally, the stepped-up retirements of obsolete equipment, all of which will create an atmosphere more favorable to our industry.

"The increase in general business, coupled with vigorous internal efforts, should have a healthy effect on Southern Pipe & Supply's business (distributing and selling of weld fittings, flanges, irrigation pipe line and mill supplies) in 1959."

Talks on German Issue Inevitable, Russians Say

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda said today East-West negotiations on the German issue are inevitable.

The paper quoted what it said was U.S. press reaction to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent news conference as proof.

Pravda published, a Tass, Soviet news agency, dispatch from New York which reported general approval of Khrushchev's statements. It said his position obviously had forced U.S. political leaders "to do something they didn't want to do—negotiate."

of the executive branch is bound to make some lawmakers wary. That is backed up by considerable public distrust of too much concentration of power in any segment of its government.

But the governor offers some strong arguments of his own and is ready to go to bat for them.

"The more you fix responsibility, the better government you are going to have," he said in a recent press conference. "Unfortunately, the trend in government has been to so diffuse responsibility that it is difficult to say just who did what.

Wants Strong Bond

"The stronger the bond of authority is between the chief executive and the people, the more informed decisions you are going to have at the polls.

"It is not the same as a distatorship, where the people have no way to express their opinions."

Di Salle also has served notice he will move in the future to tighten the reins on the multi-million-dollar School Foundation Fund and the Public Utilities Commission.

In the meantime, he is watching to see what happens to the ideas already in the works.

Speaker Lantz will settle himself more firmly in the leadership saddle during the coming week and spur his lieutenants to faster action on the business before the House.

"Have Program, Will Push It" might well be his motto.

Starting Monday, the quiet-spoken Lancaster lawyer will hold regular meetings with the chairmen of the 21 standing committees to direct and check on progress of the major Democratic commitments and administration requests.

These meetings apparently will replace those of the majority party's policy committee, whose open discussions have been called off the last two Monday afternoons.

As sunny, springlike days begin to slip into the weather picture now and then, the inevitable murmurs about when the session will end become more and more audible among the legislators.

The answer can be determined roughly by the accomplishment of three things:

PASSAGE of tax bills.
PASSAGE of appropriations.
PASSAGE of the rest of the Democratic platform.

"After that, we can shut up shop and go home just about any time we like," Lantz says.

Could the speaker say about when that will be?

"No, but I certainly want to get in some golf this year!"

The other three pieces of legislation up for consideration are:

An ordinance to vacate the first east-west alley south of Evans Rd.

A resolution approving action of the city planning commission in granting permission to the Standard Oil Co. to use a tract of land owned by it at Davids St., Woodrow Ave. and Bellefontaine Ave. for the site of a new service station.

Water Control Bill Slated for First Hearing

Johnson's Measure Would Put Authority In Hands of One Unit

From Our Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The bill to put the authority for a state water policy in the hands of a single agency is scheduled for its first committee hearing during the coming week.

Sen. Danny D. Johnson (D-New Philadelphia), sponsor of the measure, said the Senate Conservation Committee plans to hear supporters of the proposal Wednesday.

Representation Invited

Johnson said he has asked representatives of the Division of Water and members of the Ohio Water Survey Committee to appear at the hearing.

The bill was drafted with the advice of the division and based in part upon the recommendations made by the committee in its report to former Gov. C. William O'Neill last December.

Johnson proposes to replace what he terms "the present piecemeal method of water management" in Ohio with an all-inclusive policy set and carried out by a nine-member Ohio Water Commission.

Members of the commission would represent commerce, industry, agriculture, public water supply, recreation, health, public works and natural resources and both houses of the Legislature.

Power to Order Projects

The body would have the power to study, recommend, approve, order or reject projects for flood control, conservation, utilization and recreation.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has requested a similar agency be set up in his new Department of Industrial and Economic Development, but Johnson believes the commission's scope would be broader in the Department of Natural Resources.

The senator has conferred twice with the governor on the difference in their viewpoints. He said DiSalle agreed at the last meeting to study his ideas and that he is waiting to hear from the chief executive.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has ruled that a municipal civil service commission members may also serve as clerk or a board of election and party executive committeeman. None of the offices is subordinate nor a check on the other, McElroy said in the opinion to Jackson County Prosecutor Roy J. Gilliland.

SINISTER SKELETON shocks Carol Ohmart in this scene from the horrifying "House on Haunted Hill" which opens on a twin bill with "Destination 60,000" at the Ohio Theater Friday. Cast with Miss Ohmart in the first film are Vincent Price, Richard Long and Alan Marshal. Preston Foster, Coleen Gray, Pat Conway and Jeff Donnell share top billing in the second feature.

DiSalle Says Stand on Capital Punishment No Sign He's Soft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he wants to correct any impression that he is "soft on crime generally" because of his stand against capital punishment.

He made that known Friday at a meeting in his office attended by officials of the Pardon and Parole Commission and the Division of Correction.

Maximum Supervision

The governor urged maximum supervision of prisoners on parole and warned against exceptions that would tend to imply a weakness in the parole system.

At the same time, however, DiSalle said the parole commission should review convicts' cases periodically rather than extending their prison stay a decade or more without review.

He noted there was some difference of opinion among state officials about periodic review and also on the length of parole supervision after an inmate's release from prison.

Commission members and correction chief Maury Koblentz agreed that those differences could be ironed out.

Koblentz urged increasing what he said was the state's inadequate parole staff by at least 40 workers.

Protest Proposals

At another meeting Friday, DiSalle conferred with officials of nine cities and the Ohio Municipal League. They protested bills pending in the Legislature which they said would boost their municipal operating expenses by $29,250,000 a year.

The cost figure was submitted by Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze who headed a delegation of mayors and their aides from Cuyahoga County cities and also Canton, Cincinnati, Columbus and Struthers (Mahoning County). The league is composed of 505 municipalities.

Celebrezze said larger cities spent more than four million dollars last year for poor relief, in addition to state subsidies. He said DiSalle's proposal for the state to return poor relief care to local communities could impose an extra cost of $15,750,000 on the cities, if the state dropped out altogether.

Weapons Turned In for Chance To See Basketball Tilt

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—County jail prisoners are fans of the University of Cincinnati basketball team and the fact helped promote a little honesty Friday.

Police, hearing that a club was hidden somewhere in a cell block, ordered a shakedown. And they warned there would be no television of the California-Cincinnati NCAA tournament game Friday night unless the weapon was turned in.

Prisoners on the second floor turned in not one but three clubs.

Then inmates on the first floor gave up two more.

And finally, prisoners on the second floor also turned in three hacksaw blades.

The jail TV set was returned to the inmates.

Erosion of Womb Isn't Serious Condition

"Dear Dr. Molner: I was informed by my gynecologist that I had an erosion of the womb. He said, however, that this was very common and nothing to worry about if it were cauterized, which he did.

Dr. Molner

"I am sure you can imagine what 'erosion of the womb' sounds like to a layman. When I asked exactly what it was, he just said it was common and not to worry. Now I know that polio is common, but I would worry if I had it.

"To the average person, erosion of the womb sounds like an eating away, which sounds like something to worry about or ot have checked into further.—Mrs. P J."

I quite agree with you that the word "erosion" has a horrible ring to it. As in "soil erosion." But when you get down to it, even an ordinary summer rainstorm will wash away at least a little bit of soil—and that is "erosion," too. An Oklahoma dust storm or a cloudburst on a steep hillside in Massachusetts can be serious "erosion." A heavy rain on flat land in Iowa may "erode" only the tops of small hillocks, and the fields in general will not be harmed. Erosion is a relative term.

Still granting that "erosion" can be a scary word, and that perhaps we need a better term for it, the "erosion of the womb" is not as terrifying as it sounds.

"THE "EROSION" is an ulcer. And it isn't attacking the entire womb, but only the tip of the cervix, which is the neck of the womb. The cervix projects into the vaginal canal and is readily seen during a routine pelvic examination.

The "erosion" more nearly resembles a simple abrasion—there is a spot where the mucous membrane lining has been damaged. It might, thus, be comparable to a "raw spot" in the throat, nose or mouth. Small ulcers of that sort are cases of "erosion," too. But we don't ordinarily use that word, and nobody is frightened.

In cases of "erosion" of the cervix, the causes are not usually clear; sometimes it is some injury during childbirth, or some irritation.

Usually a mild degree of infection is present, which can produce a discharge and interfere with becoming pregnant although it will not interfere with childbirth.

The fact remains: What we are talking about is a small ulcer, and cauterizing it (to remove the infected tissue and allow the spot to heal) is the usual and reasonable treatment. Knowing this, you can now relax. But I see your point when you are a bit upset by the word "erosion."

—:—

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a tiny woman, 4 feet tall, weighing about 85 pounds, having a pronounced humped back, but my health is excellent. If I should marry do you think my physical imperfection would prevent me from having a baby, or if I become pregnant, that I would losem y life in delivery?—S.M."

Answer to both questions: No. And I wish you a long and happy life.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can a hemoglobin or blood count that is 78 per cent of normal cause a person to feel tired all the time? My doctor doesn't think this is low enough to cause any symptoms. I also have spells of flu-like symptoms but no fever, or sometimes 99 or 99.5 degrees.—M.R.H."

We'd call 78 per cent a little low. But with the rest of the picture you describe, involving that mild temperature, one would suspect a chronic infection of some sort. Such an infection is more apt to cause fatigue—and can be a cause of the low hemoglobin count, too.

News Suppression Cited For Lag in Space Race

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Fritz Zwicky, noted astrophysicist and jet propulsion expert, says the United States is trailing in the space race because scientific news is suppressed.

The California Institute of Technology scientist charged the government with "police state tactics" in its handling of scientific information.

"One scientist doesn't know what another is doing," he said Friday at a Caltech conference of space scientists. "If we had had free dissemination of scientific knowledge five years ago we wouldn't be behind the Russians now, we'd be ahead of them."

Admiral Asks Protection for Staff Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's blunt talking atomic specialist, is asking Congress for protection from Pentagon committees.

"I appeal to Congress to end this ridiculous situation," the nonconformist admiral told a House Operations subcommittee Friday.

Rickover was speaking of the Defense Department and its relations with his unit of atomic planners, the group largely responsible for the first atomic submarine and civilian power plant.

He said numerous committees and panels set up to oversee his operations not only hurt morale but "our people have no time to do their work for fighting committees."

His group, Rickover said, is not one where officers and civilians sit at adjoining desks duplicating each other's work.

"We have civilians working for officers, we have officers working for civilians. We have lieutenant commanders working for ensigns. Whoever does the job best gets the job."

Two Charged in Fight

J. L. McKinney, 33, of 759 Fairfield St. and Mattie Troutman, 19, of the same address were arrested at 1:58 a.m. today in the Ace Hi Club on Hocking St. They were charged with disorderly conduct. Police said they were fighting. They are to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Ballet Dancer Talent Show Winner

VFW Auxiliary Donates Proceeds to City for Park Equipment

A ballet number by Bobbie Search won the VFW Auxiliary youth talent contest held Friday at Taft Junior High.

The 9-year-old ballerina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Search of 230 Leader St., now is eligible to compete in the district finals at Mansfield, May 2.

Second prize winners with a dance routine, Mary Pat Bowe and Pat Lyons, will go to the finals as entertainers. Accompanying the two acts will be Mrs. Charles Briner, contest chairman.

IF MISS SEARCH wins on the district level, she will give performances at the Girls Junior Unit of the VFW Auxiliary in Columbus, at the Ohio VFW banquet, before the veterans in the Chillicothe Hospital and at the VFW National Orphans Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Proceeds from the 10th district talent show, amounting to $125, were presented to guest of honor, Mayor Wendell L. Strong, to be used to purchase play equipment for Lincoln Park. Mrs. Briner made the presentation.

The show provided a third place tie between Sandee Search's tap number and the guitar playing of George Sexton and Ronald Williams.

Nine of the 17 talent acts were dance numbers. In addition, there were two guitar numbers, a vocal solo, vocal quartet and quintet routines, an acrobatic act, an accordion solo and pantomime performance.

—:—

GIFT CERTIFICATES were presented the girl winners by Mrs. Aubrey Fosnaugh, president of VFW Auxiliary 3313.

Ray Basore of the Par Dance Studio served as master of ceremonies. The Pleasant Band performed preceding and following the show and provided background music for several acts.

Judges were Phil D. Brubaker, supreme quartermaster of military order of cooties, honor degree of VFW; Curtis M. Jewell, quartermaster of Department of Ohio, VFW; and Alvin Schubert of Fostoria, in charge of production control for the Senaca Wire Co.

Thomas Brady Sr., vice commander of Post 3313, opened the show. The invocation was given by Norval Foreman, youth activity chairman.

Ushers were Miss Diane Briner and Yvonn and Linda Jesse.

TALENT WINNER. Top winner of the VFW youth talent contest held Friday night at Taft Junior High was 9-year-old Bobbie Search with her classical ballet performance. Her 13-year-old sister, Sandee, tied for third with a tap routine. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Search of 230 Leader St.

Patrolmen Report 2 Auto Accidents On Morrow Roads

No injuries were suffered in two accidents in Morrow County Friday investigated by highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

One accident occurred at 6:40 p.m. on U.S. Rt. 42 a mile north of Mount Gilead.

Patrolmen said one car was driven by Ivan D. Bowers, 57, of Alliance, while the other was operated by Kenneth C. Fennell, 26, of Columbus.

Both autos were northbound. According to the report, Bowers was following Fennell. Bowers pulled out to pass Fennell at the same time as the latter drove left of center to avoid a car making a turn into a private driveway.

The collision resulted in extensive damages to both cars, patrolmen reported. They arrested Bowers on a charge of failure to signal his intention to pass, and cited Fennell on a charge of driving into the path of other traffic. Both men are to appear in Mount Gilead Mayor's Court at a later date, the report noted.

Two cars were involved in a mishap at 5:20 p.m. on State Rt. 61 a mile north of Mount Gilead.

Patrolmen said one car was driven by Wernie Campbell, 76, of near Mount Gilead. The other was operated by John E. Reely, 20, of near Delaware.

Campbell, according to the report, pulled left of center to make a left turn into a county road at the same time that Reely was attempting to pass. Minor damage was done both cars. Patrolmen cited Campbll on a charge of failure to signal a turn and Reely on charge of failure to signal his intention to pass.

Both are to appear in Mount Gilead Mayor's Court at a later date.

Three Injured In Accidents in Bucyrus Area

BUCYRUS — Three persons wer injured, two slightly, and two arrests were made in two accidents investigated Friday by highway patrolmen from the Bucyrus post.

Ronald C. Smith, 24, of near Bowling Green was reported in "good" condition this morning in the Wyandot County Hospital in Upper Sandusky where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a two-car crash at 8:10 a.m. Friday just south of the north corporation limits of Upper Sandusky on U.S. Rt. 23.

Patrolmen said Smith, who suffered a laceration of the head, hands and chest, was the driver of a southbound car which collided with a truck driven by Emanuel Waites, 65, of Orient, O.

Waites, headed north, apparently turned across the path of Smith into the Wyandot County state highway garage property, patrolmen said. Moderate damage was done to the truck, but the front end of Smith's car was demolished, patrolmen noted.

Waites was cited to appear in Upper Sandusky's municipal court March 31 to answer a charge of making an improper turn.

A mishap at 1 p.m. about a mile south of Bucyrus on State Rt. 4 involved cars driven by Harvey E. Schwab, 67, of near Nevada and William Marks, 35, of Dayton.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Rt. 4 and the Crawford County road known as the Mount Zion Pk.

Patrolmen said Schwab, eastbound on the Mount Zion Rd., pulled into the path of the northbound Marks car on Rt. 23. A passenger in the Schwab car, Billy Murphy, 3, of near Nevada, suffered a cut lip but was not treated. Mrs. William Marks, 30, riding with her husband, sustained a bruised ankle.

Schwab was ordered to appear in Bucyrus Mayor's Court Tuesday to answer a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Waldo Man, 80, No Help to Doctors

Ralph Gabler Never Has Required Treatment, Leads Active Life

By JOHN ROBSON
Marion Star State Editor

Eighty years without being to a doctor might indicate a lack of trust on the part of some people.

Not for Ralph W. Gabler of Waldo, though. Mr. Gabler has never been to a doctor in his 80 years because he has never needed to see one. He is just a healthy man."

—:—

MR. GABLER continues to amaze his younger friends with his good health, but can't explain any special reason for it. He claims he has no secret formula or prescription for staying sound.

Mr. Gabler has been in the grocery business in Waldo since he was 15 when he went to work for his father. Now he owns the same store where he began his career and has no intention of giving up his way of life.

"Why should retire?" he asks his friends. "After all, I'm still pretty healthy and I've never loafed a day in my life yet. I wouldn't know how to loaf."

Mr. Gabler continues to keep the active schedule which he has followed most of his life. He arises at 6 o'clock, opens the store about 7:30, works in the store until 6 at night, then returns home to eat and watch television or engage in other activities until 11 when he retires for the night.

HE RECENTLY took up fishing and occasionally goes up to Lake Erie for a day at the sport. "That's my only hobby, though. I like to watch baseball and football on television, but I'm not crazy about them like some people," he explains.

Mr. Gabler is the father of Cecil Gabler, assistant to the superintendent of the Marion City School system. He has one granddaughter and three great - grandchildren.

Until six or seven years ago Mr. Gabler was postmaster of the village, in addition to holding down his grocery store post. He had been postmaster for 34 years before his retirement.

Mr. Gabler also is one of the few surviving charter members of the Knights of Pythias Lodge in Waldo and is quite proud of his affiliation with that organization.

What are Mr. Gabler's plans for the future? He's got his eyes set on living to be 100 and also hopes to continue "being good and healthy."

PICTURE OF HEALTH. Ralph W. Gabler, 80, has never required the services of a doctor in his four-score years and he hopes he can continue his record for at least 20 more years. He manages to keep himself healthy working in his general store in Waldo. He rings up another sale here in the store where he began working when only 15 years of age.

Urges Cooperation

Livestock Group Hears Farm Director for Ohio

"Agriculture is in an awkward position. It needs a good public relations representative to tell the people of the country the real story of what's going on down on the farm."

So spoke R. H. Terhune, state director of agriculture, who addressed approximately 200 members and guests of the Marion County Livestock Feeders Association at the fourth annual meeting of the group Friday night in the Prospect School.

Talking on "Agricultural Indigestion," Mr. Terhune, whose interests other than the state directorship include a 600-acre farming operation in Fayette and Madison counties, suggested that the "notion that farmers are living on easy street" is only one of the misconceptions that is giving today's agriculture indigestion.

HE OBSERVED that while the cost of food has increased steadily over the past decade, the farmers' share of the food dollar has fallen steadily.

He noted that taxes on some land in Madison County this year were $5 an acre. "I remember," he said, "when you could rent land for that amount."

Mr. Terhune's remedy for many of today's farming ills was cooperation, on the part of all individuals and organizations that make up the overall farm picture. "We have got to work together, both as individuals and as communities," he asserted. "We cannot grow severally — we can only grow by working together."

"If we don't cooperate, one with the other, we cannot hope to survive," he said.

Introducing the speaker, sponsored jointly by the Marion County Beef Cattle Feeders, the Marion County Sheep Improvment and the Marion County Swine Improvement associations, was Francis Gruber, past president of the Beef Cattle Feeders, who acted as master of ceremonies.

—:—

JAMES SMOOT, manager of the Marion market of the Producers Livestock Association, recognized the buyers at last summer's livestock sale climaxing the Marion County Fair. Mr. Smoot declared that while representatives of packing houses "are always on hand to assist us, it is you individuals who make that sale the success it is."

The buyers were the special guests of the sponsoring associations.

Ed Messenger, past president of the Marion County sheep group, introduced the 10 area girls who participated in the 1958 "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest. They were Emily Holt, Marian Jones, Sharon Eidge, Becky Long, Joan Bevis, Juanita McNeal and Joan Isler, all of Prospect; Janet and Janice Foos, both of Green Camp; and Marilyn Zieg of the Pleasant community. Cecil Murphy, state director for the county sheepmen, presented each girl with a gift. Forest Loudenslager discussed rural zoning proposals. Giving the invocation prior to the banquet was Miss Gussie Smith, Marion County home economist.

Officers of the beef group are: Lowell Beringer, president; Leroy Hinamon, vice president; Merle Lashey, secretary - treasurer, and Ed Reister, state director. Heading the sheepmen are Robert Zieg, president; Don Foos, vice president; Allen Wargowsky, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Murphy, state director. Swine association officers are: Tom Guthery, president; Robert Wixtead, vice president, and Don Loudenslager, secretary-treasurer.

Music was furnished by an instrumental ensemble, directed by Peter Ayer, Prospect music instructor.

Examination Scheduled For Stationary Firemen

The examination for a stationary fireman's license will be given in Room 208 of Harding High School at 8 a.m. Wednesday, March 25, Emil Lisak announced today.

This all-day examination will be given by a state examiner from the Ohio Industrial Relations Department. The examination is given each year at the conclusion of the stationary fireman and engineer course in the adult education program of the Marion City Schools. The examination is also open to others in the area who have not attended the class. Interested individuals should contact the Industrial Relations Division in Columbus.

Burns Appointed Vice President and Dean at Wesleyan

DELAWARE—George W. Burns, a member of the Ohio Wesleyan University faculty since 1946, has been appointed vice president and dean of the university by Dr. David A. Lockmiller, president-elect of the university.

The executive committee of the university's board of trustees at a meeting Thursday expressed its unanimous approval of this first major appointment by the new president.

Mr. Burns will take his new office in June, when Dr. Lockmiller will leave the University of Chattanooga, which he has served as president for the past 16 years, to become Ohio Wesleyan's tenth president.

Chairman of the botany department since 1954, Mr. Burns served as acting dean of the university during the first semester of 1957-58. He has been serving as acting president of the university since Aug. 1, when President Arthur S. Flemming resigned to become Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

A native of Cincinnati, Mr. Burns had taught at the University of Minnesota before joining the Ohio Wesleyan faculty in 1946. During World War II he served in the Pacific as a naval meteorological officer.

Last year he was elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1957 he was elected secretary of the Ohio Academy of Science, of which he is also a fellow, after having completed a term as chairman of the section on plant sciences.

He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and received his Ph.D. degree from Minnesota, where he had a four-year teaching fellowship. He is a member of Sigma Xi, scientific research honorary society, and of the Botanical Society of America.

East Tech, Salem To Battle for State Cage Crown

2 Upsets Recorded In Class A Contests

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech vs Salem in Class AA, and Edgerton vs Lynnwood-Jacksontown in Class A.

That's the menu today for Ohio's anything-can-happen high school basketball championship finals at St. John Arena.

The finals are a many-angled feature.

For instance:

East Tech, with a 50-game winning streak, can become the third school in Class AA history to repeat for the crown—only Dayton Stivers and Middletown having done it previously.

Seeks Second Ohio Title

Salem, by upsetting the Scarabs, can make Quaker coach Johnny Cabas the first Buckeye mentor to take both the big and little school titles. He won the smaller school laurels in 1947 with the colorful Columbiana Clippers.

This is the first time since 1927, when Kent State defeated Oberlin 20-16 with Cleveland Indian general manager Frank Lane as referee, that two teams from the populous Northeastern district have tangled in the big school payoff contest.

East Tech, as a 28th birthday present for coach John Broski, turned on the heat Friday night for a whopping 83-47 win over Toledo Scott. Salem came from behind to nip Middletown's rebuilt Middies 68-65—the second straight year the Butler County crew which boasts seven state championships has failed to get past the first round. The two Middie losses have been by a total of four points.

In Class A two Cinderella teams emerged as the finalists. Edgerton, from far up in the northwest corner of the state, trimmed Northwestern of Wayne County, the defending king and top-ranked club in the class, 58-51.

Third Unbeaten Foe

Lynnwood - Jacksontown, which passes from existence in June through a consolidation maneuver, ousted the last of the Class A unbeaten teams by halting fifth-ranked Salem Local of Champaign County 61-53. Salem Local was the third straight unbeaten team to fall before the Trojans, who had whipped Racine (22-0) and New Boston (27-0) in the Athens regional to get into the big show.

Should the Trojans take the title, an oddity pops up. The Jacksontown team was beaten in the race for the Licking County tournament title, but could erase that memory by turning back the speedy and tenacious Bulldogs. Jack Gill, who has guided the Lynnwood squad to the threshold of the throne room, is in his first year of coaching.

A crowd of 12,669 witnessed the Friday afternoon Class A games, and a capacity throng of 13,924 was on hand for the Class AA games.

Sparks Salem Rally

The East Tech-Salem game is slated at 8 p.m. tonight and the Edgerton-Jacksontown fray at 2 p.m. East Tech has won 24 straight this year, and Salem has a 25-1 record—the only blot being a nine-point setback at the hands of East Tech in the season's fourth game. Cabas says his boys will avenge that loss and take the crown.

Cabas could credit Jim Lehwald, a 155-pound junior and the only substitute he used against Middletown, for Salem's presence in the finals. The youngster came in late in the third quarter, with the Quakers trailing 46-45. He hit a jump shot to make it 47-46. Then, with the count deadlocked at 50-50 and 18 seconds to go in the period, he banged in another two-pointer to send Salem out front to stay.

His two - pointer opened the fourth period, and he added two free throws with a minute to go to make it 67-59—too much of an edge for Middletown's late spurt to overcome.

Bob Grundish, a tousle-haired 155-pound senior, was the difference in the Edgerton win over Northwestern. He connected for 18 of Edgerton's 31 points in the last half, after the teams had hit the midway point deadlocked at 27-27. His 26-point total was tops for the Class A semifinals.

Al Thrasher Salem Local's sterling shotmaker and rebounder, was as classy as anyone in the place as he garnered 22 points in losing to Lynnwood. He got 17 of his team's 27 first half points, but a collapsing zone defense hampered him in the second session.

Carl Holman and Jim Turner were the Lynnwood big guns with 19 and 18 points respectively.

Jim Stone, hitting from everywhere, paced East Tech to its one-sided win with 26 points, with all-Ohio Ken Glenn contributing 18. Only Ray Wolford, bespectacled center, was able to cope with the tall and talented Scarabs as he registered 17 points and picked off a flock of rebounds for Toledo Scott.

Four of Middletown's starters finished in double figures, headed by A. C. Mitchell's 16, but the Salem team's two 5-10 guards, Can Krichbaum and Dave Hunter, had 18 and 16 to offset the Middletown balance — and Lehwald's eight-point contribution ended the Middie magic.

IT'S MINE, ALL MINE. Ron Jackson, Toledo Scott cager (left), loses the ball to Cleveland East Tech's Jim Stone in Friday's semi-final Class AA state tournament basketball scrap. Stone and his mates, defending AA champions, were easy victors over the Scott crew, grabbing an 83-47 decision. East Tech, sporting an undefeated record, will tangle with once-beaten Salem tonight for the state title. The Quakers won the right to battle the powerful Scarabs by squeaking past Middletown 68-65. East Tech will go into the game for the crown with 24 wins to its credit this season and 50 in a row over a two-year span. Cleveland met the Salem five once before this season. On Dec. 26, on the Quaker's court, the Scarab quintet took a 68-59 victory. Out of the above action are East Tech's Ken Glenn (12), Ed Ferguson (10) and Sam Franklin (20), as well as Toledo's Bob Ross (13) and Ray Wolford (53). (UPI Telephoto)

EN ROUTE TO THE FINALS. Jerry Gill of the Jacksontown Trojans, goes up for a shot in Friday's semi-final Class A tournament basketball game with Salem Local. The shot was good and Jacksontown went on to win 61-53 and advance to the Class A finals today against Edgerton, which surprised highly touted Northwestern 58-51. Salem's Larry Smith makes a futile try to stop the Trojan ace. Jacksontown defeated Marion County's Prospect 51-48 in the finals of the Central District tourney in Columbus. (UPI Telephoto)

Three Golfers Share Lead at St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Much to everyone's surprise, including his own, a young driving range operator from Danvers, Mass., who is vacationing here, was in a three-way tie for the lead as the second round of the $15,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament started today.

"The best competitive round I ever played," Tom Mahan Jr. blurted as he turned in a sparkling six-under-par 66 in the first round to tie big George Bayer of Glen Eagles, Ill., and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., both seasoned tournament pros.

That Bayer should be right up there was not surprising. The Lakewood course was mushy from the heavy rain which forced postponement from Thursday. It put a premium on carry, and Bayer is the most prodigious hitter among the operating pros.

Lema could be up there, as he has shown himself capable of fine rounds. But young Mahan's presence at the top was astonishing. His father also played, carding a 78.

Despite the sodden terrain, scores were remarkably low. Forty-one pros broke par, and 60 were par or better.

Behind the three co-leaders at 67 was Mike Dietz of Paradise, Fla., and five players were tied at 68 and six at 69.

Gulliford Clips Iberia Cagers In YMCA Play

Another Marion team survived first round play in the YMCA Invitational tournament here Friday night when Gulliford Hardware of Green Camp clipped the Iberia Merchants 63-52.

In the other Friday night contest, Weaver-Neff of Galion fell to the Bucyrus Chiefs by a 60-44 margin.

Gulliford led 15-10 after the first quarter and held a 33-24 edge at the half. They carried a 49-38 bulge into the last quarter. Four cagers hit in double figures for the winners with Flach leading the way with 18. Sheppard netted 13, Jim Riley 12 and Sherm McKinniss 10. Miller had 21 for the losers while Robinson scored 13.

Bucyrus also jumped ahead early to win going away. The winners built up a 12-5 lead in the first quarter and at the half held a 32-16 bulge. They led 46-24 at the start of the finale.

Don Schiefer led the winning attack with 14 points while Young had 13 and Shroll 12. Gottfried pumped in 19 to lead the losers while Fendick netted 10.

Meets West Virginia

California Defeats Bearcats in NCAA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—California and its rock-ribbed defense go against West Virginia and Jerry West, the most prolific scorer in tournament history, for the NCAA basketball title at Freedom Hall tonight.

The two conference titans, California of the Pacific Coast and West Virginia of the Southern, meet in the blue chips game at 10 p.m. EST, following a consolation match for third place between Cincinnati and Louisville.

Both Seek First Title

Neither California nor West Virginia has won an NCAA title.

The big question is whether California's opportunists can contain the magnificent All-America from West Virginia the way they handled Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson in Friday night's semi-finals.

They held Robertson, national scoring champion the last two years, to 19 points and even nullified his play-making in the second half while rallying for a 64-58 victory.

West, a handsome 6-3 junior from little Cabin Creek, W. Va., —a great player all season—has reached his peak in the tournament. Friday night he earned a standing ovation from the partisan crowd of 18,619 after a brilliant 38-point show in a romping 94-79 victory over Louisville.

Nears Scoring Record

In four tournament games, West has fired in 132 points—a 33 point pace. He needs 29 tonight to smash the five-game NCAA record of 160 set in 1956 by Hal Lear of Temple.

The Golden Bears, first PCC team to reach the NCAA final since Stanford won the championship in 1942, have parlayed their defense and opportunistic play into a 15-game winning streak and a 24-4 record. Balanced and slow-working in contrast to West Virginia's driving attack, the key men are 6-10 Darrall Imhoff and 6-2 Al Buch.

Eight points behind early in the second half, California caught up with 11 minutes to play and pulled away in the last three minutes as Buch scored 10 of his 18 points and Imhoff cashed in six of his 22.

Striker, Locke Halt Bosox

Gordon Takes Close Look At Indians' Rookie Hurlers

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland manager Joe Gordon is giving several of his young pitchers another look before deciding whether they will stay with the Indians or be assigned elsewhere.

Two of them, Bob Allen and Jim Perry, were scheduled to go against the Boston Red Sox here today. Two others, Jake Striker and Larry Locke, hurled against the Sox at Scottsdale Friday.

Striker Gives Five Hits

Striker gave up five hits and three runs in the four innings he worked. Locke left the game with a sore shoulder after pitching one and one-third innings. He didn't allow a hit, but walked two batters.

Gary Bell and Mike Garcia are scheduled to face the Sox Sunday.

Two runs in the ninth gave the Indians a 5-4 victory over Boston Friday. The loss was only the second in 12 exhibition games for the Sox. It was a ninth - inning rally by the Tribe that beat them the first time, also by a 5-4 score.

The winning blow Friday was a line drive single by Vic Power, scoring Minnie Minoso from third base with the score tied and two out.

The Indians went into the ninth trailing 4-3. Jimmy Piersall led off with a walk and moved to second on Minoso's single. Rocky Colavito took a called third strike and then the runners advanced on an infield out by Russ Nixon. Piersall scored and Minoso moved to third when Mike Fornieles uncorked a wild pitch. Power's game winning single followed.

Former Indians got five of Boston's eight hits. Gary Geiger singled twice and Jim Busby hit a triple and two singles.

Salem Cagers Confident

East Tech Heavy Favorite In Championship Contest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Confident Salem challenged powerful Cleveland East Tech and Edgerton tangles with Lynnwood-Jacksontown today as the Class AA and A high school cage classic swings into the final round.

Edgerton from Williams County and Jacksontown, a couple of unheralded outfits, clash in a 2 p.m. contest that defies anyone to name the winner.

In the AA nightcap, defending champion Tech is an overwhelming favorite to cop its second straight crown. If coach John Broski's Scarabs win as expected, they'll become only the third team in history to capture the state tournament twice in a row.

But Salem coach John Cabas has other ideas. After his Quakers came from behind Friday night to edge Middletown 68-65, the Mount Union product flatly predicted: "We'll beat East Tech."

If Salem does succeed in pulling the upset of the year, it will be sweet revenge against the only team that has spoiled an otherwise perfect season.

Earlier this season, Tech stopped the Quakers, 68-59 in the only meeting between the two schools. Salem has won 25 times and sports a 22-game win skein.

Cabas is playing it cute on just what strategy he'll use to try to whip Tech. "We'll beat them by scoring more points than they will," he says.

Broski, who celebrated his 28th birthday Friday and who has an enviable record of 121 wins against only 12 setbacks in six seasons, isn't saying much. Apparently, he plans to let his players do his talking for him.

In the Class A affair, two hot-shooting teams will vie for honors. Edgerton, from near the Indiana border, fired 51 per cent to oust defending champion Northwestern of Wayne County, 58-51.

Jacksontown, which failed in a bid to win the Licking County tournament, now has embarrassed three unbeaten teams, and in succession to boot—New Boston, Racine and Salem Local Friday, 61-53.

Mistakes Often Costly

Special Care Is Needed For Cleaning Paintings

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Are you an amateur doctor of paintings? If so, desist, unless you are heeding expert instructions. Mistakes can be costly.

Four friends gave me the magic world "turpentine" for cleaning an 18th century Flemish painting on board, for instance. In discussing this cleaning technique with Murray Pease, Curator of the Technical Laboratory at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, I learned that one could "get into trouble with that method."

"An expert could use turpentine," explains Pease, "but amateurs shouldn't because of the risk of softening the paint."

HE SUGGESTS two methods for removal of superficial grime. One is the use of gasoline - type dry cleaning fluids — applying the fluid with absorbent cotton or a soft brush and doing a tiny area at a time. The other is using a cream type good quality wax-emulsion furniture polish.

When applying either technique to paint cleaning, be sure to wipe off the fluid immediately.

Pressure and rubbing must be avoided, Pease stresses. He suggests that the canvas must be supported evenly below, perhaps by balancing it on "magazines piled to the thickness of the painting stretcher."

Paintings deteriorate slowly, cracking with age, he points out. But home remedies are often dangerous. For some minor and all major repairs, Pease suggests examination by a museum-recommended professional restorer.

AVOID USING homespun remedies such as soap, water, erasers, bread crumbs and strong household cleansers on your paintings. And if you'd keep your paintings true, a uniform relative humidity of 50 per cent is desirable, he says.

"Paintings are best hung away from window, radiators and fireplaces in regular use, and when stored should have some access to light and air. Heat is not harmful to paintings, although dry heat in winter is not too good," Pease warns.

In her book, "How to Take Care of Your Pictures," Museum of Modern Art and Brooklyn Museum art expert Carolyn K. Keck says "there has been much talk about cleaning paintings with onions and potatoes" and that she has tried both but found the materials too rough on the paintings, and that it was necessary later to remove the film with absorbent cotton.

SHE MAKES these suggestions:

A painting is vulnerable when it is off the wall, say when you are redecorating your home. If stored in a closet, something heavy may fall on it or, if several paintings are stored together, wire from one may scatch the other.

When paintings are down, stack them carefully in some safe place with cardobard protection on each side of every painting.

When transporting a picture from one home to another use a strip frame protection which you can make yourself Remove painting from the frame and put a wooden frame around it for carrying purposes, using wood screws to attach the four piece of the frame to the painting's stretcher.

THERE SHOULD be a half-inch of wood overlapping the reverse of the painting and a half-inch overlapping the front side.

You can make a package of your painting when it is in its strip frame by placing it in between two strong cardboards slightly larger than the frame and wrapping it with cord.

If you decide to leave the frame on and want to move the framed painting in a car, tie it between two strong pieces of cardboard and pad the frame with wads of corrugated paper or thick cloth underneath the string.

Solar Homes Not Yet Ready For Wide Use

Engineers Seek Way To Store Sun's Heat For Longer Periods

By The Associated Press

From time to time during the last few years, everyone has read or heard about the use of solar energy to heat houses.

Some may have received the impression that solar houses are just around the corner. This is hardly the case. Even with the selected conditions under which some experimental solar houses have been built, only a moderate degree of efficiency has been attaind.

Better Storage Needed

Better heat storage systems remain to be developed before enough heat can be stored for a long enough period of time to take care of a succession of cloudy days.

In a solar house recently built in usually sunny Phoenix, Ariz., an auxiliary heater is needed to operate for short periods a few times during the year. In a solar house built in Lexington, Mass., under the direction of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the auxiliary hearter must do its work more often.

The Lexington house is the first of its kind built to meet the needs of an average family in a Northern area.

Designs Solar Ranch

One of the world's leading experts on solar energy, engineer John Yellott, has designed for one of the how-to-do-it publications a ranch-style solar residence which makes use of materials which are now commercially available.

The idea is to show that a solar house is now a practical reality. In this design, thermostatic controls are proposed to turn the auxiliary heating system on and off automatically.

One thing must be remembered in any discussion of solar houses. The installation cost of the equipment must be made so low that the annual cost of owning it — and whatever auxiliary unit is needed — is less than the cost of heating by conventional methods.

Building Permits In the Township

The following zoning permits were issued in Marion Township during the week:

Harry Martin, 486 E. Center St., residence on Rt. 23 north.

Hinton's Sport Shop, Rt. 23 north, swimming pool and advertising display.

Ray E. Eaton, 482 Olney Ave., commercial addition to drive-in restaurant at Routes 23 and 4.

Aubrey W. Thompson, 553 Richland Rd., garage.

William Roberson, 972 E. Church St., residence on Lusch Rd.

A permit was refused to Willie Etta Ballantyne, 423 Clover Ave., for a residential addition as the proposed construction came to within 20 feet of the existing lot lines.

Spring's Arrival Spurs Plans for Lawn Repair

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of lawns. Maybe to love, too, but in my neighborhood the first human sign of vernal equinox is the lords walking thoughtfully around the manor, brows furrowed, expressions grave, looking at grass.

In areas which have escaped heavy and long - lasting snows, one is likely to find that even the best tended lawns have suffered damage from the changing temperatures, alternate thaws and freezing.

Lawns, like garden beds, do well if a blanket of snow has protected them through the winter. But even with such a protective blanket, there is usually a discouraging amount of repair work to be done if there is to be a soft and satisfying green carpet during the months ahead.

EVEN THE MOST neglected grass is likely to look well when it first starts showing new and tender green — partly because weed seedlings are not objectionable when they first push through and partly because we are starved for the sight of greenery.

During the winter, with the grass looking lifeless and drab, it is hard to make a good case for keeping off of it.

My own lawn — an interesting mixture of approximately half assorted weeds, one quarter clover and one quarter "desirable grasses" — show clearly the tracks made by the paper boy's bicycle on the occasions he took an overland shortcut to the front door, gouges made by what apparently was a dinosaur in galoshes through the backyard during a thaw and bare patches for which I can find no explanation.

MY LAWN IS not what is referred to in the advertisements as "the envy of the neighborhood," but I like to think it is a great comfort to some neighbors who, like myself, are not prepared to devote the outdoor season completely to grass culture. I feed it faithfully, cut it when it needs it, water it when it is dry and control the more obnoxious and rank weed growths.

But it is not a golf green, nor will it be as long as I'm more interested in raising flowers and vegetables than in making the neighbors envious.

This casual attitude, however, does not spare me a certain amount of spring labor. The tire marks must be erased, the dinosaur gouges repaired and the bare patches reseeded.

Lawns involve a lot of attention, even if one's standards of care are not too high. Specialists have spent a lot of research effort trying to make the job easier, but lawn repairing still is a chore which requires preparation of soil, and, grass still is a plant which requires food and water. And no one has yet invented grass which does not require regular mowing.

Requests for FHA Mortgages Climb During February

Applications for FHA - insured home and project mortgages were at a seasonally high level during February, Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman reported today.

"Preliminary reports indicate that while the seasonally - adjusted annual rates for new and existing homes showed mixed trends during February, volume of applications continued at a high level," he said.

New home applications decreased slightly on a seasonally-adjusted basis, but were up 16 per cent over January and 43 per cent over February a year ago, the commissioner said. Applications for existing homes rose slightly on a seasonally-adjusted basis and showed a 16 per cent increase over January and 45 per cent over February a year ago.

On a seasonally - adjusted basis, applications for existing homes were up 3 per cent to an annual rate of 563,000 units while applications for new-home mortgage insurance declined 2 per cent to 385,000 units.

Home starts under FHA inspection were down 1 per cent in February from January to a total of 17,000 units. On a seasonally-adjusted basis, however, the annual rate showed an increase of 6 per cent to 311,000 units.

Resignation of Bucyrus Grid Mentor Is Denied

BUCYRUS — City School Supt. I. J. Miller flatly denied a rumor today that Paul E. Keltner had resigned as head football coach at Bucyrus High School.

Keltner, who came here in 1957 from Cambridge High School, said he had no comment on his reported resignation and that "any statement will have to come from Supt. Miller or the school board."

According to Supt. Miller, any action on any changes in the coaching staff will not be taken before the school board's regular meeting, April 2.

Sports fans here have known for sometime that Keltner is among the numerous applicants for the head football coaching post at Toledo Waite.

Keltner, who now receives $5,400 a year, turned out a team, with a 3-5-1 record in 1957 while his 1953 team dropped only two out of nine starts.

Ends 4-Day Session

Crawford Grand Jury Returns 23 Indictments

BUCYRUS—The Crawford County grand jury returned 23 indictments late Friday at the end of a four-day session here. Six of the indictments were secret and eight no bills were returned.

The jury also made a strong recommendation that the county commissioners again place on the ballot a bond issue for construction of a new county home.

A $650,000 bond issue to build a new county home was defeated in November, 1957. The proposal received 4,337 votes while 5,630 were cast against it. A 55 per cent majority was required for passage.

—:—

THE JURY OF 12 women and 3 men returned indictments against the following persons on these charges.

Robert L. Grimm, 18, of Bucyrus and Frederick J. Rule, 18, of near Bucyrus, two counts of breaking and entering.

Mrs. Genevieve Barker, 23, of N. Wiley St., Crestline, conveying articles into jail to aid an escape.

Bobby D. Burchett, 18, of Peggs, Okla., and Gomer S. Butler, 19, of Hulbert, Okla., breaking and entering.

Philip E. Gardner, 22, of E. Payne Ave., Galion, assault and battery.

Robert E. Hawkins Sr., 24, of Mount Gilead, forgery.

Harvey E. Eidson, 50, of Bucyrus, driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Ernest Thomas, 26, of Crestline, auto larceny.

Carl M. Woodruff, 25, of near Galion, issuing checks with insufficient funds.

Olen Grogg, 19, of Pierce St., Galion, petty larceny and malicious destruction of property.

Paul Hoke of Crestline, petty larceny.

Robert Roy Smith, 27, of Galion, Clarence Bender, of near Millersburg and Lawrence Kochheiser of Galion, non-support.

NO INDICTMENTS were returned against these persons who were charged as follows:

Bob Melroy, of Shelby, non-support; William L. Terry, 19, of Bucyrus, forgery; William L. Holmes of Bucyrus, now deceased, driving while intoxicated; John Eldred of Galion, selling beer to a minor; Forrest Keller of Richland County, assault and battery; Donald Amick, 27, of near Galion, breaking and entering, malicious destruction of property and petty larceny. Leroy Canada, 24, of Crestline, grand larceny, and Leroy Knox, 25, of Crestline, grand larceny.

Terry, Canada and Amick already are in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield for violation of parole or probation.

THE JURY inspected the county jail, the children's home at Galion and the county home east of Bucyrus. Personnel of each institution were commended for their work.

The jury recommended that the floors and woodwork in the sheriff's residence at the jail be refinished and that the outside windows be repainted.

Concerning the proposed bond issue for construction of a new county home, the jurors further reported that they felt that if "everyone would take time to visit the county home, they would agree that a new home is needed very badly."

The jury's report stated further that in the event a bond issue is not placed on the ballot at the next election or is again defeated, necessary repairs be made and that "the home be brightened up to make it have a more home-like atmosphere."

A FINAL recommendation of the jury was that the county purchase the necessary equipment to be able to furnish a person with some type of scientific test when he is charged with intoxication.

Of the 15 persons indicted, 7 are being held in the county jail while the others are free on bond Held in the jail are Gardner, Hawkins, Bender, Thomas, Woodruff and Grogg.

A total of 40 witnesses appeared before the jury of which Mrs. Ralph Hilles of Bucyrus, was foreman. Other jurors were Mrs. Mae B. Olinger, Mrs. Velma Cooper, Miss Ruth Ludwig, Mrs. A. L. Holloway, Mrs. Toinette Cosner, Mrs. Marie Chandler, Mrs. Oletha Pfleiderer, all of Bucyrus; Mrs. Mildred M. Johnson, near Bucyrus; C. E. Trautman, Mrs. Helen Myers, Glen Wedertz and Mrs. Gertrude Graham, all of Galion; Emma Kindinger of near Crestline, and Earl Shock of near Bloomville.

Fire Engines Collide On Way To Battle Blaze

GRANGER, Utah (AP) — Two speeding fire trucks collided on the way to a barn fire Friday.

One truck sheared off a power pole, flipped on its back and caught fire. The flames spread to a smaller truck before it was towed out of danger.

When the smoke cleared, four firemen were treated for minor injuries. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

Just as the trucks crashed, Fire Chief Frank P. Jones was trying to recall them by radio. The barn fire was out.

Charged in Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police have charged James R. Johnson, 44, with first-degree manslaughter stemming from a knife fight Thursday night that was fatal to Joseph G. Faulkner, 51. Detectives said the fight developed after an argument.

Submits Low Bid

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—An apparent low bid of $225,000 has been made by Allied Structural Steel Co., Chicago, for furnishing, fabricating and delivering bulkhead units on the Greenup, Ky., locks and dam project. U.S. Engineers also announced an apparent low bid of $156,230, from George W. Timmons, Columbus, Ohio, for building an exchange store at Clinton County, Ohio, Air Force Base.

Woman Given Death Penalty In Murder Plot

Elizabeth Duncan's Last Hope Is Ruling at Sanity Examination

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — A sanity hearing next Tuesday holds Elizabeth Duncan's last hope of escaping sentence to the gas chamber for plotting the murder of her daughter-in-law.

A jury, which earlier had convicted her of first-degree murder in offering two men $6,000 to kill Olga Kupczyk Duncan, 30, a Canadian nurse, decreed Friday night that she must pay with her own life.

Prosecution and defense agreed to permit trial Judge Charles Blackstock to rule, without a jury, on Mrs. Duncan's sanity, since her plea of innocent by reason of insanity is still pending. Two court-appointed psychiatrists have testified they consider her legally sane.

If the court also holds the 54-year-old, oft-married Mrs. Duncan to be sane, a date will be set for the sentencing, but the jury's determination for the death penalty is mandatory. She would be confined in the County Jail to await her automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Mrs. Duncan showed little or no emotion at the jury's verdict but, she later told reporters: "I thought it was a rotten deal: I was tried before a biased jury."

Mrs. Duncan's son, Frank, 30, also an attorney, told reporters: "The appeal will not fail. There is no question that there was political ambition on the part of the district attorney (Roy Gustafson.) He intends to climb to some higher position over the body of my mother."

Olga Duncan was kidnaped from her Santa Barbara apartment last Nov. 17 and strangled. The prosecution charged that the elder Mrs. Duncan was jealous of Olga and wanted her son all to herself.

Two laborers, Luis Moya and Augustine Baldonado, have admitted the actual slaying. They are awaiting trial on pleas of innocent by reason of insanity.

Pains of Alcoholism Are Termed Worst for Man

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah —The president of the National Council on Alcoholism says there are no pains or anxiety comparable to those suffered as a result of alcoholism.

R. Brinkley Smithers said the pains are greater than those of childbirth, battlefield wounds or majory surgery.

"When one realizes," he said, "that the sick alcoholic is suffering from 20 to 30 bona fide physical disabilities in addition to the even more excruciating agonies of anxiety, depression, memory loss and estrangement from both God and his fellow man, this isn't hard to understand."

32 Students Claim Phone Booth Mark

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Thirty-two slightly built students crammed themselves into a telephone booth on Modesto Junior College campus Friday and laid claim to a new silly season record.

The people-packing mark was set even as 22 itty bitty sophomores at St. Mary's College at Moraga, Calif., were boasting about their sardine act in a regulation booth, 32 by 32 by 84 inches.

That was the size of the booth used on the Modesto campus, but there was one difference. Here the booth was horizontal and it didn't contain a telephone.

Rod Underwood, one of the students who was in the middle of the pack, emerged looking slightly like a well-pressed tablecloth and commented: "I feel like a sardine, one on the bottom of the can."

The quaint season opened two weeks ago when 15 students at England's Cambridge University wedged themselves into a phone booth.

Candidate's Platform Is Designed To Lose Votes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A typographical error sent Dallas City Council candidate Jack Johnson frantically telephoning newspapers Friday.

The mistake, in copies of his platform he sent out, left him saying: "I favor excessive and unnecessary spending in Dallas."

Johnson assured newsmen he meant just the opposite.
